How do you feel about Poly relationships? ?

Do you approve or not?

My wife and I recently took on a boyfriend, we made it "official" yesterday. We've been having MMF and FFM threesomes for a while now and wanted to upgrade things a bit.

How does HF feel about this?

Is your relationship secure enough to add in a third person?

Vibe - October 18, 2022, 5:24 pm

I don't wanna be in a poly relationship but I see nothing wrong with it if all parties are consenting.

I totally understand that they're not for everyone. Good on you for being open minded though.

I'm in a mono relationship, and wouldn't want to change that. However, if I wasn't happily taken, I wouldn't mind being introduced into another couple.

Would you have a preference on gender of either? Guy and a girl? two girls? two guys?

I'm bisexual so not really. If both of the people in the open relationship are cool gender doesn't really matter to much, respecting boundaries is a must.

I've never had the urge to open any of my relationships up though

This is a first for us. Threesomes were fun but we want somebody reliable that we can also care for as well, and will care for us.

I'm sure a few people will show up that have a reason to hate, and a lot of edgy children will show up as well. Just kill them with kindness.

Every time a couple tells me they're in an open relationship, I like to think about which one suggested it and which one cries themselves to sleep every night.

I just can't imagine sharing those intimate moments with someone else, much less another man.

The Pact - October 18, 2022, 6:06 pm

I guess I just worry about one person being unhappy and doing it only because of not wanting to lose another.

We're not in an open relationship, I have no interest in one of those. We have a third that we both engage with equally.

That's a very valid concern, and the wrong reason to ever enter into any sort of additional people playtime.

We're very secure in our relationship, we're both pansexual and we both decided it was time to have a regular, reliable third rather than just having threesomes with random people.

We've been married for 11 years at this point.

Yes I wasn't questioning your particular situation just the whole concept. There's a real push towards it these days what with [BRAND NAME REMOVED] and all. It's also an STD risk. People have unrealisitcally got a lot more relaxed about STDs than in the 90s. In the 80s publicity about AIDS made people much more cautious through the 90s but now everyone wants to get on with everyone and thinks about STDs a lot less it seems.

Honestly, I think you can love any one at any time. It is all circumstance.

What I am saying is maybe you are trying to fill in some gaps by distracting yourself, and being "polly" helps you distract yourself from that.

Or at least that was how it was for me.

I can see how that may be a thing for people, trying to fix what is broken with extra people.

For us, so far, it's been working well, we all enjoy each other and he knows his place between both of us.

Funny thing....although I'm not very interested in this stuff really, personally- I mean in terms of my personal kinks and desire for a lifestyle.... I have made money writing about it because it was popular with my traditional publisher. Well the publisher I used to have before Amazon smashed them and they had to close shop. They were actually a very popular and successful medium sized publisher at one time.

People who identify in with LGBTQ+ should be able to be confident in that, and love how they want to live but unfortunately we are in a world full of hurt people. And there's a good saying that goes "hurt people hurt people"

Just so you know. The porn industry has this abbreviation of MMF and FFM.

MMF - Double penetration

FFM - Threesome

also, it's fascinating. how old are you and your wife? is that third partner younger than both of you or it's random when it comes to the age factor?

MMF does not mean DP, it suggests the men are both bi. Otherwise it would be MFM, etc.

FFM suggests both woman are bi. Otherwise it would be FMF. So on and so forth.

We are both in our late 30s, he is in his early 30s, but we have playmates that range from 20s to 40s.

I wouldn't want intimacy with another male either though, like I said I'm straight.

Me, I was down for the fact of there's another dude present who I'm very close with, who I loved as a friend, and who I trusted completely more so than any type of sexual or mental attraction. In fact there was nothing like that, just solely in a way, platonic.

He was sort of roped into it because he was dating the girl I had started talking to before I did, and we kinda joined forces if that makes sense. ?

Prawnster - October 27, 2022, 5:56 pm

I think it's great if a couple can add an extra person and everyone share the love and affection equally.

Everyone should be treated equally (as you have previously stated) in order for it to work with no secrets between any of you (in order to avoid the 3rd feeling excluded etc).

It's not something I would try with my current girlfriend as I know she isn't interested in that and I'm not anymore either tbh; however, if it works for other people then that's great for them, and I wish you all the best with your experiences!:)

We want that intimacy between all 3 of us, otherwise it's not really fun.

Thanks! We are meeting a new playmate Sunday for drinks (I'll be having water, they will have drinks). He's adorable but new to being with guys.

It's nuts how many guys are "straight" until they find out a couple wants to hook up with them and then the confessions come out lol.

But ay whatever makes you guys happy, that's what counts.

Bob White - October 28, 2022, 7:58 pm

One of the biggest issues I run into so far is matching with guys who say they are down but when it comes to it they have major boundaries.

It's mostly an attempt to get with my wife. And holy shit is it hard to find a girl who wants to join in, there's like 10x as many guys willing.

L.A.G - October 28, 2022, 9:04 pm

I'm not against Poly relationship. Honestly I believe that there is no right and wrong. Morals are merely created to control us or there would be chaos if you have seen or watch The Purge you should know what would happen but I care what people would do. As long as they won't mess with me or to my family and friends I don't give a fuck with them. Anyways, back to the topic I'm not against it but I can't see myself participating on it. It would hurt me seeing my partner get fucked by another man.

My wife and I recently took on a boyfriend, we made it "official" yesterday. We've been having MMF and FFM threesomes for a while now and wanted to upgrade things a bit.

How does HF feel about this?

Is your relationship secure enough to add in a third person?

I don't like Poly Relationship it's not for me because I can't imagine my partner getting fucked by another man but it doesn't mean I don't respect or against about it to people who does. It's their life as long as you guys are enjoying it and are not hurting anyone then it doesn't really matter. Just spread love and kindness ?

DashPHP - November 1, 2022, 1:46 am

I was listening to a Podcast and something along the lines of Poly being a good choice when exploring/finding but once you're certain you've found the one then being fully exclusive is preferred.

Trifftherip - November 1, 2022, 9:29 am

I'm far too possessive to share. Currently I'm single, but I would never be okay with it.

Pikachu - November 1, 2022, 9:57 am

It is what it is, who am I to judge? I've never been in a poly relationship personally. Might try it with the right people if the chance ever arose. I'm all for whatever makes others happy.

Cube92 - November 1, 2022, 9:59 am

Personally, not something i'd do but if everyone agrees to it and they enjoy it then i'm not bothered at all

Pug Life - November 1, 2022, 1:57 pm

Nothing wrong with it, every human should be allowed to express themselves in the way they want to. If it makes you and your wife happy go for it and if its not working out in the end, atleast you tried it and given it a chance.

For me its not my kind of thing, but i wish you only the best in your new chapter of life.

How do you feel about Poly relationships?

I personally don't approve of them. My jealousy issues would genuinely eat me alive. Even if my girlfriend did go into a poly relationship to include another women, it would still eat me inside as it would mean i'm not able to provide for her needs as much, hence the reason she added another person. I personally believe a poly relationship will never end well.

When I used to be in my manwhore phase (never get into that 'phase'), some of the women I messed around with were in a poly relationship so they believed it was fine to do 'stuff' with me and not tell their partner. At that point, it wasn't even a poly relationship. It was just cheating. They believed that because they were in a poly relationship, that it was fine to be like that. Their . I remember one of them telling me I was better than her boyfriend could ever be. I personally don't believe it's the best option but if you're happy and your partner is happy, then I believe it should be fine! :)

Sounds like you guys may have lacked boundaries and communication, and possibly needed a conversation in expectations.

I don't get jealous in that fashion, we had a guy over night before last who wanted to have sex again after I was done, so he fucked my wife again and I watched and helped hold her down (she likes rough sex sometimes). Everyone enjoyed it.

Being in a poly relationship is definitely not for me. I am one who loves constant attention & privacy with my partner. I personally do not have a problem with polyamorous relationships ~ love your life and be happy with whatever you do. Love whoever you want.

I'm sure my options could change in the future though and try to keep my mind open to new things.

Hopefully here in the next month or two we are bringing home another female just for me though.
