Thread: [\[LoL\] Goal for 2023 Ranked Season](#)

Seaking - October 21, 2022, 12:39 pm

I really slacked off and fell down into bronze (yikes I know). I was sitting in gold and I think next year I'll put in the effort to get to platinum. It's annoying that each placement year they drop me a division or two even if I sweep my placement games. I wish we knew what the gold skin you got was at the start of the year, would defiantly motivate me to work for it. I understand why they can't though.

I found just trying for the next few tiers helped me back when I was in bronze. Like going for silver 4 one year, and then silver 1 the next year, and finally gold 5 was the goal. I think it's time to work my way into platinum. What's your current rank?

Oh nice. Yea I fell off the wagon and let myself drop to bronze haha. I'll make it a goal to reach gold this season at least since I know I can easily get back to it. I've never stepped foot in platinum, but i hear it's not too hard to get to from gold 1.

until diamond 4 is easy in my opinion, if you play a lot, more easier of course

I only get like 2-3 games a night in. 4-6 if I do ARAM ones. I'm definitely getting gold for sure this coming season, but yea I'm going to shoot for plat 4.

Appreciate it! I'll post my progress when ranks reset and hope to inspire others to climb as well. Should I 1 trick or just do a little of everything is the question.

My goal was Gold, after hitting only silver every season. And I finally made it!

I mainly play Sona support

My solo/duo is still silver1, so I still have to fix that.

That's the thing I wasn't playing her before this season xd

Ye, true, but, it's really a team game, if my team sucks I can't win :P

Curiosity question for a league player:

Do you play using Jinx often? If so, how often? If not, why not?

CompletedMaze - October 27, 2022, 2:44 pm

I think if you're struggling to reach gold then you are at least doing things wrong on the macro level. Otherwise I think knowing how much damage your champ can really deal and take at the limits is core.

If your progress is slow it might be worth reflecting on your own games (might not gain anything from that) or watching smurfs commentate who explain why they're doing certain things throughout the game.

Oh and at the low levels, often times it's better to let your team mates die instead of going to die with them.

I've been as high as gold 1? before. Almost plat, but over the last few years I really only played the placement games and never anything else. Each season I would get like Silver 1, next year placement would toss me in silver 4, next year bronze. I've just done that over the course of years and need to put in the work to rank up.

Honestly, i stopped playing and I find my self happier than when I tried that climb. Give it a go.

Oh don't worry I don't let the game get to me mentally. That's why I play a ton of URF / ARAM. I don't want to make it my life and get stressed out for no reason.

There is URF still, ffs. I just might download it again.

Haven't played LOL in over 2 years. For the past months I've played Wild Rift. Maybe it's worth going back to LOL in 2023.

TB12GOAT - October 28, 2022, 4:44 pm

After failing to hit diamond last year I lost all motivation, peaked plat 1 90lp :/ Been playing a ton of aram this season.

Seaking - November 2, 2022, 7:36 am

I'm also not offering to gift skins for helping me get to higher elo after rank resets, but you might get some haha. I think it's 15 days now until the reset. We've got to get a bunch of us together and post our goals and progress when ranked season comes around!
