Thread: Scroll to Bottom

Hydra - October 24, 2022, 5:32 pm

Some threads are long and not sure about everyone else but some threads have the need to scroll for a bit to get to the bottom of the thread. We have a scroll to top, can a scroll to bottom be added as well? Anchoring it to the last post would be nice too instead of bottom of page so we don't need to scroll up a bit afterwards.

Example:

The way Omni is structuring and reforming HF. I guess this is a bit irrelevant, especially these times. but indeed, it's ease of access feature, and many active users will benefit.

I usually just press my keyboard "end" key.

Yeah you can flick on iPhones and androids pretty sure. But I guess this feature would give you another way to do it.

Mobile navigation sucks ass.

Mobile navigation will never be as good as desktop but it can get pretty close.

User CP > Edit Options > Threads per page

User CP > Edit Options > Poss per page

User CP > Edit Options > Default Thread View

Issue solved.

So now I have to click "Next" (page) 2-5x more often? Rather just continue using the "End" key at that point. This suggestion isn't to solve an issue. It's simply to enhance what's already there. Scroll to Top was added, I'm suggesting enhancing it to also including a Scroll to Last Post/Bottom.

Personally I have my threads set to 10 posts per page only, this used to be HF's default back when I first signed up and I prefer it that way. Keeps it cleaner imo plus it's not hard to just click the "Next Page" button.

The "Top" button at the very bottom is a great feature to have, I use it very often. In fact when it was temporarily replaced with "Advertise" I was pretty sad to see it go, so I'm happy that it's been back. Though I think it might have said "To the Top" originally, can't remember for a fact though.

As for a "To the Bottom" button, again personally I don't really see a need for it as you can either just click and bring it down to the bottom very easily, or additionally you can just simply press the "End" key on your keyboard and it'll automatically drop you down to the very bottom of the page. I feel like that could be an easy fix for this no?

1. There aren't even any pages nor other irrelevant posts if you use thread view properly.
2. It is also just 1 click to go to the last page if you want to see the last post on a thread without using the thread view settings and keeping it at default
3. and as Cooligan mentioned, there is an "end" button on your keyboard as well
- and
4. you can also just click the "last post" button when viewing threads lol

but sure enhance if you like.

Alright, I suppose this isn't something many would use. Closing out the suggestion.

You have given me an idea.

Thanks for the suggestion since it inspired a new plan.
