-Meta has started to roll out features that let creators sell NFTs on IG using SOLANA and POLYGON

-To kick-start this process, Instagram has made these new features available to a select group of creators.

Wonder if they'll turn up like Coinbase and get little to no volume but I have higher hopes with Meta/IG outperforming them. Have been dca'ing into META as well during the bear

I got a notification regarding this earlier but disregarded it. This is some pretty valuable information though. Ty for the share

Do you know why there was no mention about ETH NFTs?

"Meta says it won't take a cut of NFT sales until 2024, though 30 percent will be deducted from sales to account for app store fees. Creators can also set a commission rate for resales of their work, ranging from 5% to 25%."

This is crazy no?

FB/Meta/Instagram already supports Ethereum & Polygon first, it's redundant to mention Ethereum again as it is the core of NFTs. Everyone knows it will be supported.

Ethereum and Solana are down since this news.

Polygon and Flow are up a respectable amount

Arweave is absolutely soaring
