Thread: Any good threads for complete beginners looking to learn?

chimbus - November 3, 2022, 12:54 pm

I just joined this forum because my interested in hacking has recently peaked and I was wondering if there are any specific threads/content I should check out?

i think there are much but you should know what you are looking for at first , like do you want to learn windows apps hacking or web apps or android etc... you should elaborate what exactly you looking for but i suggest you to go youtube and look into offensive security channels

There are all kind of branches of hacking that you might like, if you elaborate more on what kind of hacking you want to do then we can give better suggestions.

If you cannot find what you are looking for try, finding guides and free gurus methods on google.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6199071> in Blackhat Training is a thread to read through and ask questions in.

Hacking Tutorials is also a good resource.

Youtube has good resources as well. I recently recommended: HackerSploit to another user to learn more about cybersecurity/hacking for beginners.

I recently posted about this pack of hacking courses.

It really depends what you are hacking.

You going for servers or are you going for diablo?

Both are great, but they are completely different.
