

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Logo Hide to include link to front page

Shone - November 10, 2022, 3:37 am

Hello,

I browse HF in office and I don't want people asking too many questions so I hide the logo.

However, I have a habit of clicking on the logo to get to the home page, so could there perhaps be a `Link` icon there which just takes you to front page?

I know that there is the home icon but I'm really not used to using it as I have developed a habit of clicking the logo over the past 4 years.

Have a nice day

Nachfolger - November 10, 2022, 4:19 am

If you can't press the Home icon out of habit, what makes you think a new link/icon is going to change that?

Shone - November 10, 2022, 4:28 am

(Nov 10, 2022 05:19 AM)Nachfolger Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you can't press the Home icon out of habit, what makes you think a new link/icon is going to change that?

Because it would be at the same place where the logo usually is.

SMMFlare - November 10, 2022, 7:18 am

I do the same thing. Would be a convenient change for me personally, but not really a big thing.

Bullup - November 10, 2022, 12:37 pm

Yeah i have the same issue as well lol a link icon would be cool or maybe just a replacement logo saying "FORUM" so that you can switch between the original HF logo or the default generic FORUM logo

webdev77 - November 10, 2022, 2:36 pm

(Nov 10, 2022 05:28 AM)Shone Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Because it would be at the same place where the logo usually is.

There is a home icon on every page in the breadcrumb trail. Zero reason to add a superfluous link to the header of a website. The logo is already linked.

Shone - November 10, 2022, 2:51 pm

(Nov 10, 2022 03:36 PM)webdev77 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There is a home icon on every page in the breadcrumb trail. Zero reason to add a superfluous link to the header of a website. The logo is already linked.

Well, problem is that hiding the logo removes the functionality of being able to click it and go to home page, which is often used by a lot of people.

What I'm suggesting is a tiny UX change, it would make things more convenient for people who are so used to clicking on the logo but I suppose it might be too unimportant and too much hassle to do.

webdev77 - November 10, 2022, 3:23 pm

(Nov 10, 2022 03:51 PM)Shone Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well, problem is that hiding the logo removes the functionality of being able to click it and go to home page, which is often used by a lot of people.

What I'm suggesting is a tiny UX change, it would make things more convenient for people who are so used to clicking on the logo but I suppose it might be too unimportant and too much hassle to do.

Use the home button in the breadbrumbs. There is already another link to home available.

Omniscient - November 10, 2022, 7:04 pm

I'll see what I can do.

Hydra - November 10, 2022, 7:49 pm

I'm for this, and I understand where OP is coming from. It's one thing clicking a large logo vs the tiny home button on the left side. One way would be to turn the entire div clickable for home and the show icon to show the logo. That way we have more real estate to click Home vs the tiny home icon.

StuffSneak - November 10, 2022, 8:12 pm

Well to be honest once you start clicking the Home icon, you will eventually get a hang of it. I also felt like this in the start but now I have become accustomed to it.

lol - November 11, 2022, 7:04 pm

(Nov 10, 2022 08:49 PM)Hydra Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm for this, and I understand where OP is coming from. It's one thing clicking a large logo vs the tiny home button on the left side. One way would be to turn the entire div clickable for home and the show icon to show the logo. That way we have more real estate to click Home vs the tiny home icon.

this and on the both sides too

<https://prnt.sc/Kb5ztLgwtRX5>

NERO - November 11, 2022, 7:59 pm

(Nov 10, 2022 08:49 PM)Hydra Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm for this, and I understand where OP is coming from. It's one thing clicking a large logo vs the tiny home button on the left side. One way would be to turn the entire div clickable for home and the show icon to show the logo. That way we have more real estate to click Home vs the tiny home icon.

Wait, I thought this thread was a joke?

No solution is required?

mickeh - November 12, 2022, 5:39 am

Ive just got use to clicking the small home button, i also use the site with the logo hidden

Oak - December 13, 2022, 9:38 pm

(Nov 10, 2022 08:49 PM)Hydra Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm for this, and I understand where OP is coming from. It's one thing clicking a large logo vs the tiny home button on the left side. One way would be to turn the entire div clickable for home and the show icon to show the logo. That way we have more real estate to click Home vs the tiny home icon.

Came here to say this actually. I suffer from the same plague as OP. Old habits die hard.

Clicky box no exist.

Aadgjmptw72 - December 13, 2022, 9:54 pm

(Nov 11, 2022 08:59 PM)NERO Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Wait, I thought this thread was a joke?

No solution is required?

Was just about to post the same thing.

lol

Omniscient - December 14, 2022, 8:49 am

I asked [mention=1306528] to help me with this. Nothing. Anyone want to do the JS, I'll insert it.