Thread: Youtuber "Tatiana James" the Angel Crypto Scammer

???? - November 14, 2022, 1:22 pm

This youtuber Tatiana James, millionaire with stunning looks and personality has a special place in hell waiting for her. She has a "Jesus" tattoo in Hebrew. She contacted me on Instagram "it was really her" with this same crypto trading ruse. This is not my video. I found on some scam website she got somebody for 6K. I'm pretty sure she did not acquire her fortune from scratch and had significant help from family. I will pay to get some ribs removed so I can suck my own you know what before falling for something like this. [Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Wo0bSpgd0E>]

I thought it was fake too but penetrated questions about her previous YouTube videos and pretty sure it was her! That video I posted was the exact same pretexts she used on me.

I think she creates multiple accounts in her real name as a cover to blame a scammer. Talking to the sub accounts and eliciting information about past content sounds exactly like her. She uses the same ruses on people on her official account in the past. I just watch her YouTube videos because of her looks and think her content is a pile of dung and know she is not tech savvy. I hope law enforcement sees this and looks into it.Video: [https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3X9kn\_I-GeY]

What am I missing? Because you think she is pretty (which she is absolutely not) she scams people with her looks?

Okay, read the text from the video. The person is an idiot. They shouldn't have control of money. My guess, that's an imposter. But anyone doing $5k deals through a chat service like this without doing verification that you're speaking to the real person...makes them a moron.

Why didn't they ask for a video chat?

They even said "this seems to good to be true" but they trusted her because they're a fan. What a moron.

I hate fucks like This. They ruin the market.

EDIT: Realize it's not you so I altered my text for "they/them" instead.

Is she even a real person to begin with? A quick scan through that youtube video, and tbh, she looks like she's been created in a lab for a video game (granted, I didn't listen to it or anything).
