Anyone tune into Canada v Belgium? If only they scored that penalty in the first 10 minutes..

It feels weird.

- Corrupt
- During the winter (World Cup is kind of a summer thing)
- Qatar is boring

Still excited to see who wins.

Rhe reality of football and any sport is that they're made to hold down the masses. I am not trying to be super edgy honestly, I go to the gym 5 days a week but sports is a pointless pass time in my opinion unless it is a fighting sport or a mental sport.

"History reveals that the Caesars first provided grain to feed and pacify the people (bread), then they built great coliseums where spectacular events were staged (circuses) to entertain the people by keeping them preoccupied, thus gaining favor for the Caesars and the ruling class."

? hope this gives some insight

Qatar has been victimised by the LGBTQ & the anti-Islamic crowd just because they won't allow degenerate behaviour in their country. They didn't even show the opening ceremony here in the UK. Football wise, it has been a pretty good world cup so far with plenty of goals & good atmosphere.

While I do not approve of the decision to hold the 2022 World Cup in Qatar, I have decided not to boycott the tournament. There are several reasons for this decision.

Firstly, I am a fan of football and I want to watch the world's best teams compete.

Secondly, I believe that by watching the World Cup, I can support my favorite team without directly supporting the issues surrounding the tournament.

Thirdly, I believe that boycotting the World Cup would not be effective in addressing these issues.
