I went to use amy santiago GhostMySMS service listed here. I went directly to their website and loaded $11 worth of ethereum which was supposed to give me $15 in credits. I waited and waited and credits didn't load. I submitted a ticket on site and nothing, the next day I messaged Amy Santiago on convo to tell them that I was having an issue. His only response was

I'm not worried about $11. I am worried about a Vendor carrying themselves this way on the site. I think when it comes to the marketplace Vendors should hold themselves to a higher standard. When you look at his other threads like verifmysms for example he has a history of abandoning projects, and not updating or taking care of his customers.

Looks legit report. amy santiago

Definitely should have edited his thread saying its not functional anymore and closed it. Why do you have your website/payment systems working if your services are closed? Looks scummy.

Perhaps close the thread and add a warning in the OP, that seems like a logical thing to do considering it isn't the first time this happened.

Also find it funny that it looks like everyone who actually purchased it had an issue and was ignored.

And moreover, no one seems to have used contracts. Weird.

Stop Selling Public Junk on HF.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6235314>

This guy is selling public junk DWC! He sold me a highly public method which did not end up working!

When I bought the method he said download odu* app which i already knew about since it's highly public.

Also had to waste $100 on phone verification websites just for his method not to work.

He also sent me a public video available easily on YouTube, i will make a community alert on this bastard soon.

He has not replied for 17 days after I confronted him regarding him selling public junk on HF.
