Haha thank you! Might have to do that, and just never explain it to those who don't understand the references. Stanley only directs the good stuff!

Smexy - November 30, 2022, 3:12 pm

If Nachfolger helped to create it, it will probably be a really dark and racist documentary.

theDuke - November 30, 2022, 3:19 pm

This is pretty dope. Now somebody must make it

Richest. - November 30, 2022, 3:20 pm

Ok, this is sick. I would hang this on the wall.

Also a docu fr would be pretty cool.

Is it coming on Netflix?

It'd definitely make for an interesting documentary, and I think we'd get some really cool perspectives on how things are run, the challenges faced, and the highs and lows along the way. We've had high profile people on the forum too, some segments on them might be nice. Haha I'll have to make a Netflix version too to confuse everyone now!

Ye ye make a proper teaser like Nflx does with their standard opening/closing. That would be pretty cool.

She's featured on Omni's profile right now, so figured it was the right choice. I did not know that though, that's very interesting and a nice move by both of them.

That was a lot of effort for just HF, but respect because it looks good. We need alternate art like some companies do for movie posters.

Anyone that loves music loves Tori Amos. A rare artist in a field of characters. She is the Beethoven of our times. Her and Prince are the only real musical geniuses of the past 50 years.

I used to listen to 'Little Earthquakes', 'Under the Pink' and 'Boys for Pele' on endless repeat back in the day, those kinds of records where every note gets etched onto your heart.

Keep buying her albums. They continue to just be fantastic. Actually, they get better. Boys for Pele is one of my favs too. Blood Roses is just a perfect song. Listen to The Beekeeper. You will love it. American Doll Posse was very good too.

I can't believe I'm reading this here. Tori Amos and Prince are both on my daily playlists. Anyone here a fan of Tragically Hip? Good stuff there. Sort of like Canada's REM.
