It's just one of those things. I grew up in America. I live in Asia. Can't enjoy rice other than Japanese soft sticky sushi rice. Change my mind .

trashy - December 12, 2022, 2:31 am

You are right. Still rice's nice, but mashed potatoes are the best.

Spiced rice, with chunks of vegetable or little bits of meat, cannot be beaten in my eyes. So satisfying.

Maybe if it's a pillow for some corned beef.

I cannot change your mind. That's the environment you were raised. Your mind was already biased with mashed potato.

Step 2: Braise strip-chopped cabbage, olive oil and mushrooms together, then add Tofu, red bell pepper and green bell pepper and braise further

Step 3: add chopped broccoli and sautee

Step 4: add salt, garlic and a pinch of white pepper

Step 5: add rice

Step 6: turn up heat and fry.

Let me know how it compares to mashed potatoes.

I'm gonna be honest I fuckin love rice.
But I'd dip just about anything in some mashed potatoes.

Maybe I've just been eating meal preps for too long lol.

Mashed potatoes (with peel) is the GOAT

Aeowulf - December 12, 2022, 5:09 am

Nah, rice all day over potatoes in any form.

About a week, I don't like freezing my preps.
I do 2 weeks of chicken to 1 week of beef pasta to switch it up.

If you mixed in a little brown gravy with white rice, it will make it 10x better. I still choose potatoes over rice if we're comparing since it has more nutritional benefits.

Seaking - December 12, 2022, 7:59 am

For sure potatoes over rice. Certain dishes though I can't imagine considering putting potatoes on. For me rice is filling, but doesn't hold as long.
