The method is free but you still have to put in your own money.

ya the above is right. I take a profit split after you're making money

Today's Trade: Rough morning but we ended in profit!

Good luck finding a good auto trader tho. If someone rather that they gain nothing because they don't want to pay out a % of the profits on a working system then that's their loss. I'm just doing this to get some side cash for a bit so i can do bigger trades on this system. So it doesn't matter to me whether someone joins or not since i've already been getting enough interested users to sort me out once next week starts.

Plus, if i was to charge a fee, it would be at least $200/month. So unless you're investing at least $500+ then it doesn't make much sense. tho if you are interested i can strike a deal with you

From the looks of it, you're trading breakouts on the one-minute TF, is that correct? Also, what pair is this?

USDJPY. And yes its breakouts on the 1 min. Crazy enough the indicators i use aren't available on TV anymore as the creator was banned (idk why). With the guide version for $450 you also get the source code for the indicators I use if you want to trade it yourself or use them for another project.

Also no trade today again. BOJ press conference made the price go wild!

I never liked trading YEN for some reason, and I appreciate the offer, but I strictly use a naked chart.

I'm curious as to why the creator was banned though, that's odd.

Sounds like BS. You're just showing probably re-painted signals. Is the code open source? 2/3 of the signals in the example image are already terrible entries and exits. Is it just some modification of supertrend? Tf is going on here
