I'm listening to a free audio book today called murder in Paris. They give out a lot of first books for free to try to hook you into a series. Been finding crime fiction interesting as of late.

Peace be upon you.

I recently started Do Epic Shit by Ankur Warikoo.

It isn't your normal read.

I have been reading this fictional book about a school shooting, but it actually somehow manages to be boring lol, so maybe I should switch to one of the other unread books on my Kindle. lol

I'm also finding it unbelievable because no school shootings go down like the one in this book. The perp doesn't usually talk so much. I guess they need that to make it interesting but so far I'm finding it slow moving.
