Thread: Do you prefer indoor or outdoor NYE celebrations?

Eran - December 20, 2022, 1:35 am

I kind of have mixed feelings on this one. I got used to celebrating indoors with my family and/or closest friends and prepping the house for the party is always the favorite part of the whole thing. But I do wish to travel outside of my country to see the fireworks somewhere in public and then go to a rave or something.

What about you?

Lyrice - December 20, 2022, 1:41 am

It really depends on my mood and the specific circumstances of the celebration.

If it's cold or inclement weather outside, I might prefer the comfort and warmth of an indoor celebration.

On the other hand, if the weather is nice and there are outdoor activities or a great atmosphere, I might enjoy an outdoor celebration more.

Ultimately, I just want to have a good time and be surrounded by loved ones, no matter where the celebration takes place.

SecureOp - December 20, 2022, 1:46 am

Outdoor all the way, it just feels right. Considering going camping this year.

Charlie Sheen - December 20, 2022, 1:46 am

I guess I would have to go with outdoor, usually we fire off some fireworks to celebrate. If it was a daytime celebration I would say indoor easy.

Agreed tbh, the only correct choice.

We'll be having an indoors celebration but I live in a suburb area of my town and usually during the summer its crowded with tourists, but in the winder it's pretty much a ghost town. The beach is only a minute away so we'll still go fire off some fireworks at midnight there :D

Central Europe - it's sunny as hell this December with about 15 degrees.

Ah, I'm in Europe as well. While it ain't too cold here as well, still I have never considered camping on NYE. I'd for sure go somewhere outside where it's crowded but at the end of the night all I would want is to go back to a cosy bed lol

Well I'll be in my house the whole time, just going outside for half an hour to blow off some fireworks and fool around. Yeah this winter is the coldest in like 4 years as far as I remember. And it's usually the coldest late Jan/early Feb so I see temperatures going lower as well.

To be fair our terrain is very friendly - and you could see all the fireworks around the island wherever you are.

But yeah, majority of people will be at the club shoving down cocktails of all sorts.

MightyOne - December 20, 2022, 2:01 am

I always prefer to celebrate indoorss, its much more fun and cozy.

Celebrating outside usually means trashing yourself like a child, meh

I bet it looks amazing, I love fireworks!
Clubs aren't for me, but I'd love to go to a NYE rave!

I see what you mean, it's hard not to loosen up when everyone around you is fucked up. But a trip somewhere outside of your home country with a loved one or close friends doesn't mean you'll get trashed.

Yha its true!

Its definitely what I think at first that comes to mind, but that's true you can always enjoy a good trip or celebration outside with the family and friends.

Not EVERYTHING has to be a party XD

Edit:

Ayyyyyyy this post got me my first ornament!

Im kinda like you on this. I prefer watching fireworks while sitting at a lookout or riverside but afterwards I tend to go for indoor events.

Michael - December 20, 2022, 4:25 am

Unsure though, but it all depends.

For me celebrations at the club, is nothing I'd do.

Maybe visit a new country and have some fun there.

$neaky - December 20, 2022, 4:27 am i like indoors cus its cozy but taking effort to go out somewhere u usually wouldn't to celebrate could make for some really special memories

houdini0x - December 20, 2022, 4:32 am

I would say outdoor, as it is more fun, of course if it is not too cold!

Sick - December 20, 2022, 4:37 am

I normally go over to the city but this year possibly doubtful as there is so many rail strikes and public transport strikes i might have to miss this year out going across .

Will end up down the town more than likely

Alpachino - December 20, 2022, 4:52 am

This is a hard one, I prefer inside but at 00:00 im def going outside with my 2400 euro super box which takes 15min to finish i always buy 1 big thing for 00:00 and some hard stuff for at day time. Cant wait for new eve all food and fun things.

Yanix - December 20, 2022, 4:58 am

Always indoor celebration with the whole family. We are having some indoor games after watching the fireworks at the balcony.

indoor because it's cold and I'm usually partying iiFinance - December 20, 2022, 7:29 am

Last few years I've been spending NYE in either bars/clubs. Even when I was in NYC I was literally in a bar instead of Times Square.

Mr. Corleone - December 20, 2022, 7:43 am

I prefer being with my family and just enjoying the time with them.

Unless it's a NYE with friends where I go out, then obviously being outside.

.RTCX - December 20, 2022, 8:11 am

Bruv indoors of course. Last thing I want is to celebrate outside in the fucking cold while people throw these bomb things everywhere nah indoor it is

Bastille - December 20, 2022, 9:19 am

I'm more indoor, because in Paris there are too many people drunk in the street and too many problems coming. Some of people are especially outside to steal drunk people, or to fight with random people

This city is not as what is shown in Emily in Paris ?

InspectorGadget - December 20, 2022, 9:22 am

Indoor is by far the absolute best. The atmopshere and convience make it so much better than being outside. Especially where I live in winter.

Eran - December 20, 2022, 9:42 am

I'm really surprised that a lot of people prefer indoor celebrations. I was expecting a 50/50 ratio to be honest. But yeah it does make sense, it's cold outside and holidays are to be spent with family and not partying.

Seaking - December 20, 2022, 9:47 am

Indoor if it's a smaller group of friends, but outdoor if we are going to have more than like 8 people over for a new years eve party. For me new years can be freezing so even if it's outside it's not for long.

Nostre - December 20, 2022, 9:58 am

Usually, I'm indoors most of the time until it gets later into the night. I always liked NY day more though as where I'm from, it is a lot more hectic compared to NYE.

Juoku - December 20, 2022, 10:52 am

I used to love going out with my friends and partying every NYE, now I rather us just chill somewhere, have a few drinks, smoke something, have fun and vibe.

I think the main issue I have with it now is the fact it's so packed all the time in most parties, I rather have my space, a few years ago I didn't mind so much, I'd be out there partying till the morning and then some more.

I guess it's the age LOL

Rionxee - December 20, 2022, 10:54 am

I usually go to a music festival that's indoors for NYE, been doing that for 6 years now. If it's too cold outside then it's not enjoyable to me.

SpiritualDose - December 20, 2022, 11:00 am

I personally prefer indoor celebrations in the warmth, with warm lighting and a bunch of people around me.

I miss last year's NYE cause I was with a girl I was seeing and we drank and used together, so she came to my bar and stayed late until I finished closing and when it hit midnight we were in the parking garage getting frisky. Fun times.
