

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How to Multi Quote on Mobile?

Jinu - December 21, 2022, 7:40 pm

Hello, guys.

This may seem a noob question but I couldn't figure it out on my mobile. On PC I don't have any problem. But on mobile, it is difficult to find out. Moreover, I have a smaller display iPhone.

Could someone make a quick walkthrough?

Komodo - December 21, 2022, 7:41 pm

Press Multiquote on every response you want
Press New Reply at the bottom

Should have your quotes ready to go.

SpiritualDose - December 21, 2022, 7:50 pm

Hit the multi-quote button on each post you want and then click reply- They should all be merged together when your page loads to the reply section.

edit- oops lol @Komodo@ got to it first

Jinu - December 21, 2022, 8:09 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 08:41 PM)Komodo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Press Multiquote on every response you want
Press New Reply at the bottom

Should have your quotes ready to go.

(Dec 21, 2022 08:50 PM)SpiritualDose Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hit the multi-quote button on each post you want and then click reply- They should all be merged together when your page loads to the reply section.

edit- oops lol Komodo got to it first

I was confused at first that whenever I select the second post's multi quote, first one's multi-quote disappeared.

When I click the "New Reply" it worked.

With this I learned another way to multi-quote. In the text box bottom, it appears: "quote these selected posts" or Deselect them. I don't know whether it's a default one or the HFX Mobile thing.

Komodo - December 21, 2022, 8:10 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 09:09 PM)Jinu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was confused at first that whenever I select the second post's multi quote, first one's multi-quote disappeared.

When I click the "New Reply" it worked.

With this I learned another way to multi-quote. In the text box bottom, it appears: "quote these selected posts" or Deselect them. I don't know whether it's a default one or the HFX Mobile thing. It's default, I use it all the time on mobile.

Sometimes it glitches and won't deselect the quote and you end up quoting the person 100 times everytime you post.
Have to deselect it.

Jinu - December 21, 2022, 8:14 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 09:10 PM)Komodo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's default, I use it all the time on mobile.

Sometimes it glitches and won't deselect the quote and you end up quoting the person 100 times everytime you post.

Have to deselect it.

Yes, it remembers or keeps it in the clipboard of the old thread's quote too. Whenever we quote we should check if we quote the correct one.

Komodo - December 21, 2022, 8:15 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 09:14 PM)Jinu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes, it remembers or keeps it in the clipboard of the old thread's quote too. Whenever we quote we should check if we quote the correct one.

99% of the time it automatically deselect the quote after you reply to it.

Just that 1% of the time it keeps it forever until deselected.

Shrooms - December 21, 2022, 8:17 pm

I'm actually a dumbass, forever I've been quoting then selecting it all copy it then back page and repeat until I have all the quotes I want to reply too....

Jinu - December 21, 2022, 8:17 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 09:15 PM)Komodo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 99% of the time it automatically deselect the quote after you reply to it.

Just that 1% of the time it keeps it forever until deselected.

I tried with this thread. It started quoting all my old quotes which I accidentally clicked. But now I am clear on how to handle this. Thanks for the guide.

Lrrr - December 21, 2022, 8:18 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 09:17 PM)Jinu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I tried with this thread. It started quoting all my old quotes which I accidentally clicked. But now I am clear on how to handle this. Thanks for the guide.

There is text when you do multi quote to clear them all.

Jinu - December 21, 2022, 8:42 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 09:18 PM)Lrrr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There is text when you do multi quote to clear them all. I just figured it out, my friend. Thank you for the help though.

SpiritualDose - December 21, 2022, 9:02 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 09:09 PM)Jinu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was confused at first that whenever I select the second post's multi quote, first one's multi-quote disappeared.

When I click the "New Reply" it worked.

With this I learned another way to multi-quote. In the text box bottom, it appears: "quote these selected posts" or Deselect them. I don't know whether it's a default one or the HFX Mobile thing. Ive just leaned something new myself I didn't know there was an HFX mobile version! That's sweet I'm gonna check it out now

Jinu - December 21, 2022, 9:13 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 10:02 PM)SpiritualDose Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ive just leaned something new myself I didn't know there was an HFX mobile version! That's sweet I'm gonna check it out now

You must try it out. It's handy and loaded with many useful features. I recommend [mention=1306528] add a character count to the HFX Mobile's next update.

Nate - December 21, 2022, 9:23 pm

I think the Xadamxk HFUI has a multi quote feature, it's a pretty cool addition for mobile device users like myself.

Nate - December 21, 2022, 9:45 pm

(Dec 21, 2022 10:43 PM)xadamxk Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Multi quote is built into HF.

The mobile feature is a "mention" button that just inserts a snippet to mention the user.

oh I always thought the button was a feature of your user script, but still anyone who browses HF should be using your userscript anyways :P