Which do you all prefer and why?

I personally much prefer the longer days in summer over this shit, mostly due to my job I am awake early and it is still dark and by the time I finish work it's dark again. I also feel like it fucks with my sleep on my days off and I'll be sleeping stupidly early then up in the middle of the night for hours again.

Rev - December 21, 2022, 9:35 pm

I'm all about these long nights in the winter. I primarily work at night due to time zone differences with clients and it's the perfect atmosphere to do it!

Nice and quiet. A bit chilly. Less noisy street. It's great

Stoke - December 21, 2022, 9:55 pm

I work nights so it's a bit shit for me. The only daylight I really see is my drive home. I work through the dark and when I wake up, it's dark again.

Still waaaaay better than summer. Trying to sleep in the heat wave we had this year was brutal.

?nxy - December 21, 2022, 10:17 pm

Fuck shrooms man I'd only hit LSD. Night.

Nate - December 21, 2022, 11:02 pm

I am a fan of the longer days to be honest, I don't like how it gets dark really early now, makes it seem I have less time to relax and do my shit

I feel the same way, it's depressing as hell too. Makes me less productive too, probably something to do with not getting enough sunlight theDuke - December 22, 2022, 12:55 am

I'm pretty much nocturnal. I enjoy the quietness and darkness at night and it allows me to be calm and productive.

Bastille - December 22, 2022, 10:30 am

I rather prefer long nights, it's quieter outside, less people, less kids, less noise, the cold doesn't bother me at all, I rather prefer winter than summer when it's too hot and you can't even sleep well, on the other hand you can easily warm yourself in winter by wearing more clothes, but in summer even if you are naked it's still too hot haha

I prefer the summer much more than winter.

Nights are the best time, most dipshits are asleep. Being a vampire might not be so bad if everything you could do during the day could also be done at night.

Singedx2 - December 22, 2022, 5:12 pm

For the most part I'm on my computer and can appreciate the light of day when it shines into my room, so longer days.

Worst reason ever to like longer days bro, glare from the sun onto my monitor while gaming fucks me off so much haha

Steve - December 22, 2022, 6:47 pm

Definitely longer days. Its sort of depressing to get off work and have it be dark already. We've finally passed December 21st so looking forward to the days getting longer again.

phybe? - December 22, 2022, 7:10 pm

Although I am generally a night time person, I do enjoy the daylight during the day and love summer days/nights. Sometimes the winter weather + darkness gets a bit too gloomy for me.

Rionxee - December 22, 2022, 7:59 pm

I find myself more active at night for some reason, I have a really shitty sleep schedule. Oddly enough I find that I become more creative and efficient at night which helps in my profession. Sometimes I will be in my office til 4am writing, the night is really nice.

xend3434 - December 23, 2022, 4:38 am

I prefer long days to benefit from solar energy

pms - December 23, 2022, 4:39 am

I 100% prefer longer night than days. I'm a night own, thats when i'm happiest.

diablospartan - December 23, 2022, 4:41 am

The longer days in the summer are my favourites but i dont dislike too much the longer night in the winter because i like it when i work hard at night from the confort of my own home

Yeah I agree with this also, during the summers it's very nice. The night's are very nice as well. Winter is just hell all over.

littleblueguy24 - December 23, 2022, 4:59 am

Long nights because absolutely fuck the day.

Since I am someone who stays up past 4-5am most nights its great to be able to go to sleep in the dark instead of the sun shining around my curtains lol. I love long nights.

iiFinance - December 23, 2022, 10:51 am

Longer days are so much nicer, this winter weather is depressing

Definitely long nights, easier to grind.

Cyam - December 25, 2022, 11:46 am

I love winter cause sleeping is much better. I don't have AC so summer nights suck

Just buy ergonomic chair.

Any will work as long as it's not dirty cheap.

I bought some office ergonomic chair for like $120 and I'm very with it.

I can't decide right now honestly. Usually when I have less work to be done that doesn't require attention I like the longer days, because I usually want to spend the time with family and friends. During the longer nights, I become more isolated and I find myself completing tasks that require more attention because I have a habit of staying inside at night.

ElfSquad - December 27, 2022, 7:12 am

I prefer warmer days :)

You can think normally and not worry about being uncomfortable

Anyone who prefers long nights probably doesn't go outside much or lacks a social life - not hating on that lifestyle, but it's hard to see it for anything else.

DashPHP - January 3, 2023, 2:30 am

Longer days so I can get more work done haha.

miceonvenus1 - January 8, 2023, 8:26 pm

long nights all the way theyre really beautiful peterc22 - January 9, 2023, 8:31 am longer nights are peaceful!!

eddberkel - January 9, 2023, 12:12 pm

I hate the long evenings, I feel like I just hibernate in winter, I much prefer summer.

OMSPK - January 11, 2023, 8:56 am

Me personally, I'm more of a night person though my business is conducted during the day which makes it hard to get a good sleep schedule as I could work all day but then not be tired for the night and stay up til 5 AM only to have to go to work at 8AM

akhi - January 11, 2023, 9:32 am

I like the days to be longer. More room for activities. The vibes are so lit with summer parties. Now, we have to roll out to the campfire way sooner, and it feels like the party goes on way too long. In summer, we hop.
