Especially not due to the fact that you start flat-spinning before re-entry into atmosphere.
once you start spinning how do you stop because your going hella fast how would you like stabilize?

I smoked 20 a day for years, my lungs couldn't cope with it for one, I'm sure you'd need to be amazingly fit, you'd need to know exactly what you were doing, and be an absolute nutter.

Not totally sure, but I do know he's an extremely accomplished skydiver and this was something that took years to setup and execute.
