How long will these stay ranked #1, and also I'm sure there are some limitations. For example; can you rank my website #1 on bing under the keyword "Weight loss"?

Hei?eke? - January 31, 2023, 12:27 pm

Also interested in this if you can rank this as #1 in different countries, like UK, US & Canada.

Or is it by #1 on the global list?

How long do they stay there and any limitations to the keywords?

Would've loved to see a public reply about it. Not sure why you DM-ed them.

DM me too I'm curious.

DM me too I'm curious.

Because I want to keep my sales thread a sales thread, not a FAQ thread. I put a lot of emphasis on communication and personal support.

Any questions -> DM

Thanks for understanding :)

Your call, but IMO it looks worse when there are a bunch of replies asking for the same info over and over and then a reply from you just saying 'ok I will DM you'. Doesn't make it a FAQ thread if you are including crucial information about your service. It just adds another unnecessary step for your potential customers, which could possibly deter some of them. Again, just my opinion. Either way, good luck with sales OP.

I get you, it's just that this is a unique and non-public method, which is why I want to share as less as possible in the public thread.

My message was actually meant that every user with questions should send me a DM instead of asking here, most have understood this, but there are unfortunately always a few exceptional cases.

I can rank websites worldwide, which I recommend or only for specific countries. The website stays on #1 forever, if that ever changes you can just contact me. Limitations regarding keywords are almost not existing, of course you can't kick big companies like Amazon, Microsoft, Adobe etc. from #1, but "normal" keywords are no problem.

Hey! I use this method to run my botshop, I'm also working with a customer on 2 pages of him at the moment, so the first vouch should be here later this month :)

Curious as to why it's restricted to Bing only. I figured Google and Bing both have the sort-of the same setup. If you get rank #1 on Bing, surely you will get a decent ranking on Google as well?

As you may have seen in my thread, I usually rank on #1 within 30 days, this is not normal SEO, this is a non-public method that only works for Bing.
