Thread: Ethereum Zhejiang Withdrawal Upgrade

shreder - February 7, 2023, 12:25 pm

Remember how I counted down the Beacon chain launch? Then the Altair upgrade? Then the Merge upgrade?

We are now counting down the withdrawal upgrade via its testnets. This is the first major testnet to successfully enable withdrawals! ??????

Developers and community members are hard at work testing and ironing out flaws as we speak.

Sepolia then Georli next ste in line. SHANGHAI UPGRADE HERE WE COME!

I hope it all works out for you and that you can withdraw your stake soon.

You should also check out Cardano which has been over performing recently.

Has been a great investment for me.

Now that the test net has been undergoing testing.

How long in your opinion until we see the full roll out of the upgrade?

And what effects on will we see on the price?

Do you stake your ETH on a CEX?

Nope. I run my own machine at home and solo stake. I have been wanting to run a mini node using rocketpool the LEB8 upgrade is going to be huge that's why RPL is up 200%.

This is 1 of 3 testnets. So you can imagine the time give or take spring of this year assuming testnets are greenlight.

As for price we are going to MOON.

Alright looks like a date is set now for give or take end of Feb for second to last testnet

I was right everytime.

Even the biggest ETH whale on HF broken is hyped for Shanghai

Bugs found, bugs fixed. I'd say Zhejiang testnet was very constructive, time for the next one. See you all at Sepolia.

Autism.Yeah, he wants to feel important and a man with all of the answers in his pockets. Too bad he has a small portfolio to back up his claims. ETH will do more X than BTC and that's for sure.

Do you understand how markets work?

Good news = price bump

Grayscale's BTC ETF is about to get approved.

BTC usually leads the bull run then alts run once BTC gets near its ATH.

I would much rather be positioned in the ALT run lather, than BTC run for a 2x.

As far as funny, I think your humor is Broken Autism.
