Since I specialise in Web development, I am familiar with traditional and modern stacks. PHP and JS are the two main primary languages though. :)

The later the better IMO. I normally avoid restaurants on a day like tomorrow, but it is what it is.

Of course. Post a thread in the respective forum and send me a nudge, that way the community can also benefit from it!

I stayed up all night last night until the wife fell asleep, snuck out to the store and grabbed her a bunch of chocolates and candles and a card. I completely forgot about valentines day so I got home, set everything up and passed out. Slept most of today. She was so happy.

We had a nice chilled evening, ordered in and had a movie night. If you treat her right in the light, she'll treat you right in the night. ;)
