Thread: See Linked Accounts On Discord?

Hey all,

There is somehow that people are able to see previously linked accounts on discord after you unlink them. Is anyone aware of how they are able to do this? Would appreciate the ability to figure it out if anyone knows!

Thank you!

Go to your User Settings > Connections

From there you can manage linked accounts.

If you don't log out and restart the linked accounts will still be viewable.

Yes - Under users -> Connections then you should be able to do it.

I mean users are able to see my linked accounts (on Discord) AFTER I have already unlinked/removed them months prior. I am unsure how, but two different people have been able to do this.

Example: I linked an old gamertag on xbox to my discord. Someone yesterday was able to see my old xbox gamertag that was linked to my discord despite me removing it many months ago.

And a few months ago someone found my facebook that I had linked to my discord in 2018 and haven't had linked in years- solely from my discord.
