I think that's a solid price for that.

The MOBO's are good deals too I believe.

Samsung 980 Pro 1TB is on sale for $99.99 at the moment as well. I think it's worth the $10 extra to get PCIe 4.0. Read/write speeds of 7GB/s.

I ended up buying this about a month or so ago, had some issues with installation. Mainly my cloning software that I used Macrium didn't actually clone my original. I deleted everything off the original, and set the new one as my main and then realized I lost everything. Luckily some stuff was backed up to the cloud. But besides that one software error. This has been a solid buy.

Did you use Macrium Reflect? I've used it many many times. Never had an issue.

Yeah, it's the only cloning software I've ever used. I just didn't verify that it cloned everything. It said I was 100% and then I ran into a problem where it was only using half of the available storage.
