Studies is priority!!

You gotta manage your time it's very important!

That's the best way to do, know your priorities in life and have a motivation goal.

Best to have your studies on top of your priorities for it's much more important than playing games.

Find another game to get addicted too that is not as damaging. I did it by transferring to TF2. I could exit whenever I wanted, but I never had any need to play lol after it

I'll play League with you if you want. I've had trouble quitting for almost a decade. I'm NA server

Start lowering the amount you play until you're not playing anymore. That or pick up other fun games so you're not just stuck doing the same thing over and over.

Uninstall and delete your account. Go touch grass and talk to a female.

I should try that out. Thank you so much! It's so hard finding a game that can substitute lol in a more genuine way.

This is a good one, especially the second advice, because generally it's really hard to keep constant in quitting bad habits

Just int 4 to 5 ranked matches, call everyone racists and sexist names.
should do the trick for a 6 month ban.
