

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Florida Student Attacks Teacher Assistant

Prepper - February 25, 2023, 12:42 pm

A Florida student has attacked a teachers assistant because she took away his nintendo switch during class. He run up to her, pushed her to the ground and repeatedly punched and kicked her.

<https://www.foxnews.com/us/florida-teachers-aide-violently-attacked-taking-students-nintendo-switch>

The student was taken into custody and charged with felony aggravated assault with great bodily harm.

Share your thoughts.

In my opinion this is attempted murder over a damn video game, hopefully the justice system does it's job correctly and hands out a proper prison sentence and hopefully the teachers assistant fully recovers without long term issues.

Cuthbert - February 25, 2023, 6:23 pm

The unhinged viciousness of it reeks of marijuana, they ought to investigate his drug history.

Gary Clark Jr. - February 26, 2023, 1:48 pm

(Feb 25, 2023 07:23 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The unhinged viciousness of it reeks of marijuana, they ought to investigate his drug history.

I'm sure him being special needs had nothing to do with how he responded.

Prepper - February 26, 2023, 2:00 pm

(Feb 26, 2023 02:48 PM)Gary Clark Jr. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm sure him being special needs had nothing to do with how he responded.

Special needs does not justify aggravated assault with great bodily harm or attempted murder. All things needs to be taken into consideration but under no circumstances should he get away with his actions.

Gary Clark Jr. - February 26, 2023, 3:23 pm

(Feb 26, 2023 03:00 PM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Special needs does not justify aggravated assault with great bodily harm or attempted murder. All things needs to be taken into consideration but under no circumstances should he get away with his actions.

Oh, 100%. That comment was geared towards the unhinged poster who gets a hard-on like he's Alex Jones working on a conspiracy to somehow link a crime mentioned in here to marijuana.

I believe most public schools do not have the resources to effectively deal with special needs students. This along with video games and smartphones being used as a babysitter and a "solution" to issues like this just make the problems worse.

Taker66 - February 27, 2023, 11:48 pm

the florida meme never dissappoints hahah!

Prepper - February 28, 2023, 6:17 pm

Update: The student is being charged as an adult and is being held on $1 million bond for felony aggravated battery on an elected official or education employee.

owlfy - March 1, 2023, 3:47 am

(Feb 28, 2023 07:17 PM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Update: The student is being charged as an adult and is being held on $1 million bond for felony aggravated battery on an elected official or education employee.

Good! It was a vicious attack but what struck me was how slow that recruiter was to come help her.

Cuthbert - March 1, 2023, 11:42 am

(Feb 26, 2023 04:23 PM)Gary Clark Jr. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oh, 100%. That comment was geared towards the unhinged poster who gets a hard-on like he's Alex Jones working on a conspiracy to somehow link a crime mentioned in here to marijuana.

What's so far-fetched about it when this school already has a history of violent potheads?

<https://newsdaytonabeach.com/stories/matanzas-hs-student-brings-drugs-to-school-batters-srd,10566>

jcole - March 1, 2023, 12:19 pm

I saw this video and it just made me sick to my stomach to know I have women in my family that work in the school system.

Lovely? - March 1, 2023, 12:20 pm

So happy this kid is getting trialed as an adult, stomping some women because she took ur gameboy wtf is wrong with this veggie. I saw the video where he was getting arrested and only thing I could think to myself when he said "Am I going to jail? I don't wanna go to jail" was: Well you belong in there or at an asylum in a straight jacket medded outta ya mind.

Cuthbert - March 1, 2023, 12:34 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 01:20 PM)Lovely? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) or at an asylum in a straight jacket medded outta ya mind.

This is just vengeful and makes you no better than him. Damaging his mind for certain isn't doing anyone any favours, it could make him more of a danger to people in the long run.

Gary Clark Jr. - March 1, 2023, 12:38 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 12:42 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What's so far-fetched about it when this school already has a history of violent potheads?

<https://newsdaytonabeach.com/stories/matanzas-hs-student-brings-drugs-to-school-batters-srd,10566>

What's the connection here other than the incident happened at the same school? Are they handing out marijuana to special needs students or are they siblings? Have they come they concluded the incident listed in the OP was drug related?

Green plant bad.

Cuthbert - March 1, 2023, 12:44 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 01:38 PM)Gary Clark Jr. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What's the connection here other than the incident happened at the same school? Are they handing out marijuana to special needs students or are they siblings? Have they come they concluded the incident listed in the OP was drug related?

Green plant bad.

The connection is violence and pot use. I'm calling for his drug history to be investigated to rule it out, what have you got against this? The "green plant" when used for its dangerous psychotropic effects is bad, yes... It's a botanical poison linked to mental illness. Do you think severe mental illness is good?

Gary Clark Jr. - March 1, 2023, 12:47 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 01:44 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The connection is violence and pot use. I'm calling for his drug history to be investigated to rule it out, what have you got against this? The "green plant" when used for its dangerous psychotropic effects is bad, yes... It's a botanical poison linked to mental illness. Do you think severe mental illness is good?

Oh nice maybe you should become a prosecutor or a cop... maybe you are one who knows, but I can't prove that without evidence like you're linking A to B here... without evidence. Severe mental illness like you continue to show over the course of your posts here is concerning, hopefully you can get some help before it's too late.

Cuthbert - March 1, 2023, 12:52 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 01:47 PM)Gary Clark Jr. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oh nice maybe you should become a prosecutor or a cop... maybe you are one who knows, but I can't prove that without evidence like you're linking A to B here... without evidence. Severe mental illness like you continue to show over the course of your posts here is concerning, hopefully you can get some help before it's too late.

I just provided you evidence. Marijuana is correlated with random, senseless, vicious acts of violence. The school has a history of students using the stuff and committing violence. It's not a direct link between the two incidents, but it's still evidence. I don't think you know what evidence is. Needing help was on your mind first, this is your insecurity. May God help you.

Gary Clark Jr. - March 1, 2023, 1:00 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 01:52 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I just provided you evidence. Marijuana is correlated with random, senseless, vicious acts of violence. The school has a history of students using the stuff and committing violence. It's not a direct link between the two incidents, but it's still evidence. I don't think you know what evidence is. Needing help was on your mind first, this is your insecurity. May God help you.

There is no present evidence of that student being linked to marijuana or using marijuana which was what I was asking for. He has special needs which means he may have some form of mental illness, which he was probably diagnosed with as a child. There's evidence of students being written up, suspended, and arrested at every high school if you look hard enough, and I'm looking forward to seeing you dig something up that actually links that student to it, otherwise keep shitposting bud.

Cuthbert - March 1, 2023, 1:08 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 02:00 PM)Gary Clark Jr. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There is no present evidence of that student being linked to marijuana or using marijuana which was what I was asking for. He has special needs which means he may have some form of mental illness, which he was probably diagnosed with as a child. There's evidence of students being written up, suspended, and arrested at every high school if you look hard enough, and I'm looking forward to seeing you dig something up that actually links that student to it, otherwise keep shitposting bud.

There is evidence, it's on film, he acted like a violent pothead.

Lovely? - March 1, 2023, 1:08 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 01:34 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This is just vengeful and makes you no better than him. Damaging his mind for certain isn't doing anyone any favours, it could make him more of a danger to people in the long run.

That mind is plenty damaged, spitting at the victim and threatening to kill her after the incident as well there's no human compassion in there, that gameboy was worth rendering another person unconscious for and then continue with 15+ swings to head and back after the victim stopped moving.

Quote: "Fu you, I don't want to go to jail. I have more important places to be."

This is someone unhinged, for sure because of mental issues and in another universe kid was completely normal but now it's just a 2 year old mind with a 17 year olds body to work with. They should be dulled down somewhere with likeminded people in a safe enviroment, for my sake he can even have take his game with him.

(Mar 1, 2023 02:08 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There is evidence, it's on film, he acted like a violent pothead.

Or like a christian crusader during the 1100's seeing an opposing religion.

Gary Clark Jr. - March 1, 2023, 1:11 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 02:08 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There is evidence, it's on film, he acted like a violent pothead.

He's violent for sure, but where's the evidence of him being a "pothead" - did you drug test him?

Cuthbert - March 1, 2023, 1:13 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 02:08 PM)Lovely? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That mind is plenty damaged, spitting at the victim and threatning to kill her after the incident aswell there's no human compassion in there, that gameboy was worth rendering another person unconssious for and then continue with 15+ swings to head and back after the victim stopped moving.

This is someone unhinged, for sure because of mental issues and in another universe kid was completely normal but now it's just a 2 year old mind with a 17 year olds body to work with. They should be dulled down somewhere with likeminded people in a safe enviroment, for my sake he can even have take his game with him.

You don't know for certain if it's damaged, but it certainly would be after being, "medded outta ya mind." Isn't it ironic how when pot isn't proven to be present (yet), you act like you need to be mentally ill to commit violence?

(Mar 1, 2023 02:11 PM)Gary Clark Jr. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He's violent for sure, but where's the evidence of him being a "pothead" - did you drug test him?

The evidence is pot is known to cause behaviour exactly like that.

Lovely? - March 1, 2023, 1:17 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 02:13 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You don't know for certain if it's damaged, but it certainly would be after being, "medded outta ya mind." Isn't it ironic how when pot isn't proven to be present (yet), you act like you need to be mentally ill to commit violence?

The article confirms mental health issues, it usually goes with special need students that doesn't have anything physically wrong with them. That's why I'm mentioning it, I think anyone can commit crime you're the one that acts like you need to smoke weed to commit crime/violence.

Gary Clark Jr. - March 1, 2023, 1:20 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 02:13 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You don't know for certain if it's damaged, but it certainly would be after being, "medded outta ya mind." Isn't it ironic how when pot isn't proven to be present (yet), you act like you need to be mentally ill to commit violence?

The evidence is pot is known to cause behaviour exactly like that.

Maybe it's because the normal human being can put two and two together and figure out that if someone is in special needs classes, they may have a mental illness that causes them to lash out or become violent in situations. There is no evidence in any article I can find stating he was a pot user nor has any drug test been released. You just put the marijuana out there on your own, and like always, continue to be disputed when you bring it into posts that aren't related to pot at all.

Cuthbert - March 1, 2023, 1:23 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 02:17 PM)Lovely? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The article confirms mental health issues, it usually goes with special need students that doesn't have anything physically wrong with them. That's why I'm mentioning it, I think anyone can commit crime you're the one that acts like you need to smoke weed to commit crime.

I don't act like that, that's a lie. Mental illness is still quite subjective and difficult to prove, so they could be wrong. It still doesn't absolve you from intentionally wanting to make him mentally ill, for certain, with drugs.

(Mar 1, 2023 02:20 PM)Gary Clark Jr. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Maybe it's because the normal human being can put two and two together and figure out that if someone is in special needs classes, they may have a mental illness that causes them to lash out or become violent in situations. There is no evidence in any article I can find stating he was a pot user nor has any drug test been released. You just put the marijuana out there on your own, and like always, continue to be disputed when you bring it into posts that aren't related to pot at all.

Violence is very much related to pot, I know you pretend it isn't. You don't know what evidence is. You can't find articles explicitly saying he wasn't pot user either, it's still on the table. Given his behaviour it makes it more likely than not.

(Mar 1, 2023 02:08 PM)Lovely? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Or like a christian crusader during the 1100's seeing an opposing religion.

If you'll sooner believe this than drug-induced violence, you'll believe anything.

Gary Clark Jr. - March 1, 2023, 3:37 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 02:23 PM)Cuthbert Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't act like that, that's a lie. Mental illness is still quite subjective and difficult to prove, so they could be wrong. It still doesn't absolve you from intentionally wanting to make him mentally ill, for certain, with drugs.

Violence is very much related to pot, I know you pretend it isn't. You don't know what evidence is. You can't find articles explicitly saying he wasn't pot user either, it's still on the table. Given his behaviour it makes it more likely than not.

If you'll sooner believe this than drug-induced violence, you'll believe anything.

Mental illness is more likely than pot use in this case because again, he is special needs. More likely he is prescribed something from a psychiatrist that he was or wasn't taking or the dosing wasn't right.

—

Not every instance of violence is related to pot, but nearly every post you make on a tech forum relates to the two together. You saying he's a pot user is just speculation because you don't have any evidence he was one. Furthermore, there's evidence in the article he's special needs which likely means he's gone through the process to be put there which involves being diagnosed with a cognitive impairment, psychiatric problems, or another disability/syndrome diagnosed by a health care professional that typically involve some sort of medication to treat all of that.

You may be right that it's related to drug use as prescribed medications are drugs (no shit) but it's not pot like your tinfoil hat keeps telling you.

Cuthbert - March 1, 2023, 4:17 pm

(Mar 1, 2023 04:37 PM)Gary Clark Jr. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mental illness is more likely than pot use in this case because again, he is special needs. More likely he is prescribed something from a psychiatrist that he was or wasn't taking or the dosing wasn't right.

Not every instance of violence is related to pot, but nearly every post you make on a tech forum relates to the two together. You saying he's a pot user is just speculation because you don't have any evidence he was one. Furthermore, there's evidence in the article he's special needs which likely means he's gone through the process to be put there which involves being diagnosed with a cognitive impairment, psychiatric problems, or another disability/syndrome diagnosed by a health care professional that typically involve some sort of medication to treat all of that.

You may be right that it's related to drug use as prescribed medications are drugs (no shit) but it's not pot like your tinfoil hat keeps telling you.

Pot is strongly correlated with severe mental illness, and with making those whom have pre-existing mental illness more ill and violent. I haven't said he is a pot user, I have insinuated he might be and called for it to be investigated. Violent behaviour of this sort is evidence of potential pot use. It's not my fault you don't know the difference between proof and evidence. Marijuana is just as capable of make you mentally ill as almost any other dangerous, mind bending drug. If you want to dispute this, find any of my more relevant threads. Learn to argue with a bit more civilisation first.

Seiyoku - March 1, 2023, 5:11 pm

I agree, he should get attempted murder charges since he kept punching the back of her head while she was passed out, if nobody stopped him I'm sure he would have killed her.

owlfy - March 2, 2023, 12:01 am

(Mar 1, 2023 06:11 PM)Seiyoku Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree, he should get attempted murder charges since he kept punching the back of her head while she was passed out, if nobody stopped him I'm sure he would have killed her.

Yeah, I think he would have beat her to death. Thankfully people where there to help her out.