It's 2023 and people are still falling for this?

Unfortunately, people will always fall for HYIP/Ponzi scams like these. I like how they all show their company registration to try and make it look legit, but you can see that they were registered just a few months ago while they're claiming they've been running for several years. Not to mention that anyone can register a company for a small amount of paperwork and a low fee.

Damn, they were mining bitcoin 3 years before it was even created. That's top quality right there.
