Thread: Calling all AI enthusiasts: what's your go-to news source?

Pebis - March 2, 2023, 10:45 pm

Does anyone have a go-to news source for the latest and greatest in AI updates? I'm in the market for some fresh content, but let's be real, reading blogs isn't exactly my idea of a wild time. So, hit me with your best YouTube channels or websites, and let's leave the boring stuff for someone else. I have the attention span of a squirrel on espresso, after all.

Don't really think there is a source as such besides Google I would also be interested though if you find one.

I think Hydra would be a good resource for this. I have a few links as well.

Are you looking for news about research development on AI or? Follow people involved in AI development on Twitter for the quickest news. People are sharing research, product development and general news.

Here's a couple that tend to share news/developments.
