Thread: URGENT help with Pancakeswap

Cryptomix - March 26, 2023, 1:26 pm

Hello, I have staked about $20k on pancakeswap but I need to unstake it. It says on pancake that its locked for 100 more days. Is there really no way to unstake it?? If anyone has the answer I am willing to reward them with a few hundred. I suddenly need access to those funds.

Did you select the locked staking option? If so, you're out of luck and will have to wait. If it's flexible staking, then post a screenshot of what error exactly you're getting.

nowadays you can get value back representing your staked asset and sell it on the market aka liquid staking (stETH, rETH etc). Does pancakeswap have a market for that? what asset is the $20k in?

Staking with Pancakeswap's 'Syrup Pool' is not 'liquid staking' (the type of staking where you receive another asset representing your stake in return). In this case, you send your coins into the contract and that's it, they're stuck there until the fixed-term period is over.

Technically syrup is a thick liquid almost.

True, OP may very well have ground to stand against Pancake Swap for false and misleading statements leading to loss of funds.

wait 100 days,

Fixed-Term staking:

?Lock $CAKE for a higher APY

?The longer you lock, the higher the boost

?Additional benefits coming soon

?Cannot withdraw $CAKE or harvest rewards until lock duration ends

Flexible staking:

?Can withdraw $CAKE or access rewards whenever (with a 72-hr withdrawal fee)

?Lower APY

Can I remove my CAKE from Fixed-Term staking via contract if I change my mind?

No. Your CAKE cannot be removed or withdrawn from fixed-term staking at any point in time until your lock duration ends and your CAKE is unlocked.

Locked yes. I guess I have to wait then.

Thanks everyone.
