Thread: Could there potentially for a cracking service?

Just trying to think of new projects. Is there much need for a GPU cracking service? Thinking of putting some investment into building a GPU rig, spend some time creating word lists etc. Would people pay to have things cracked? Would be a no crack no fee model.

Could even charge extra to offer a research service too so could research where the password has come from in order to create a custom word list.. [warn]

I think there would be a market for this yes, but not sure how popular it would be. No crack no fee sound's good.

What are you planning on charging per crack?

Don't know what I got a warning for? Can't figure out which rule I broke in the rules.

I'm not sure yet. What would you pay as an example?
