I did not receive my prize and I regret calling out any users that gave pop to shady new users hosting contests (the last one that got closed and that I ranted about). I analyzed OP's profile and it was literally a 2 day contest with such a small amount and haven't found anything too shady so I went for it. I'm never supporting these scammers again. If someone was to neg me for calling out other users in my suggestion thread but being a hypocrite (unintentionally) and participating in this one, I wouldn't mind.

Fake contest, scammer, waiting for OP to be closed. Omniscient

Did you not get your prize? This thread and perhaps the OP need closing.

Some people gave pop to enter the contest. And it's B rating that counts now not popularity which people give to get back to get a reward.

Nope, and I agree which is why I tagged Omni.

New members obviously don't know the difference and think pop counts too.

I notice the OP now has a 50% warning for twice posting infected links plus an allegedly fake contest?@Omniscient@

There is also this fake contest <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6232863&page=12> and the winner hasn't been closed yet. I picked the $500 Bitcoin as bullshit when the OP put a caveat that anyone who posted a number twice would lose $450 so I picked he'd just choose someone who did post a number twice to give just $50 to while racking up bytes through all the people who wanted to enter a $500 contest. But apparently he's not given anything? Or has he?

Also the OP of THIS thread now has minus rep despite wracking up green rep from the fake contest has now lost it all and is at minus popularity. So what else has he been doing? I hate losing bytes quickloving fake contests. lol
