Thread: About Breadcrumb navigation

?Stark - April 5, 2023, 1:59 am

Hello,
As per current HF theme below breadcrumb navigation pattern is applied

^^As you can see the title of the thread is at very end in that navigation panel.

So i have two suggestion:

1. what if thread title aligned in left instead of very end.
 2. each breadcrumb/navigation has color grade (dark to light shading) from previous one
- *Example

EDIT:
Also highlight username color with their membership
Example:
Welcome back, ?Stark. You last visited: Today, 12:12 AM

I actually think an update killed the username color in welcome header. I have to look at that.

I'll consider your breadcrumb suggestions.

Having the text aligned like that somehow fulfills an ocd deep within me.
Gives it more of a directory feel, and this is tech based so

Surely these are very valid suggestions in order to improve the aesthetics of the forum. The new themes you propose would be an interesting alternative, as they can be useful for greater visibility or the change from mood to mood.
