Thread: Seeking skilled C++ person who knows ChatGPT well to work on a high-paying project.

Europe - April 5, 2023, 4:31 am

Hey guys!

I'm looking for a dope partner who knows their stuff when it comes to C++ programming and is super savvy with ChatGPT.

I am a skilled user of ChatGPT, but I am actively seeking a partner who can bring even greater expertise to the table in order to help me achieve my goals.

Together we could develop cutting-edge software solutions that harness the power of ChatGPT and C++, and take advantage of emerging trends in these areas to stay.

- I am eager to reward you for your invaluable help by offering a just proportion of the profits that will result from our upcoming manufacturing project.

- As a partner, you will have the opportunity to work alongside a committed and ambitious individual who is passionate about innovation and is dedicated to success.

If you are a C++ and ChatGPT expert looking for a lucrative partnership opportunity and are interested in joining forces with me, please feel free to contact me via private message to discuss this exciting venture further.

Let's bring our combined skills and knowledge to the table and create something truly amazing together!

Hey, C++ is currently my specialty. I have experience working at faang with c++. I also use chat gpt a lot and understand the needs in that area. If you are interested please send me more details and potential budget for upfront costs. Please also give me a timeline if you have one.

Even the PM you sent me seemed like it was written with ChatGPT..

For anyone questioning my experience, look at my registry date.

Oh, and by the way,

If you think that all your "bought awards" make you look like an experienced member, "your use of communication on HF" and "the way you interact" suggests that you are not quite familiar with how HF works.

I would recommend reading the entire help section, then feel free to post anything you want :).

I'm in the process of developing a large project

It's intended goal is to be as user-friendly as possible with sophisticated features for the people who get to acquire access to it.

You should at least ask chatgpt to take on some kinda persona to stop writing like a robot ?
And why are you picking fights with randoms

In a "Fictional_Environment" that is identical to a "Non-Fictional_Environment"
Yes, it would be considered malware
