Thread: Nearly 7k collected in 11 days AND I'm moving into a huge house near the beach

Camf ? - April 11, 2023, 2:05 pm

It's been a pretty solid month so far, since I made some changes in the business model of my agency. 11 days into April and we've collected roughly $6700. We still have pending payments, sales calls this week, and active client projects. The team is at a nice size right now, and everything is running smooth enough to focus on scaling ?

shooting for 15k-20k this month ?

My income this month outside my agency will be no less than $2-3k before the end of the month as well

This is all organic leads & referrals, ZERO paid advertisement across anything.

I've averaged 5-10k/Month (sometimes more) for years now, but I've been stuck working helluh hard, burning out, no time for other projects, etc.

How things are going recently, compared to effort + time spent, and how quickly we've collected and delivered this month so far makes 7k in 11 days pretty dope, and sets a clear trajectory for inevitable growth

I guess while I'm in this safe place to brag I'll also share that I'm moving into a new place next month that is quite the upgrade ? 4 bedroom + huge office, dining, and 2 large common spaces. Large backyard with a pool, hot tub, separate gazebo by the pool with shower, kitchen & a bar. and it's only 1.7 miles from the beach.

I'll share pics, and video of the place for anyone who's interested :)

I hope everyone else is working hard to accomplish their goals this year ?

I congratulate you for reaching this goal. Evidently your hard work has paid off, I have to be honest I had never seen your post here on the forum but I'm sure happy with this result. I will also be very happy to see pictures of your new home when you move in, good luck with your projects! ;)

Sounds nice! I moved into a 3BR, 3BA a couple miles from the beach a few years ago and I remember the feeling when I first got here. Enjoy it!

Congratz for you and the teams. Keep good works, man.

I need to scale up my business promotion and organic leads as well.

Congratulation!

Your new house sound dreamy :)
