Hello everybody.

I'm nan0s3c, a cybersecurity enthusiast with a passion for hacking. I'm pretty nerdy when it comes to computers, and am looking to hopefully make a name around here. I'm mainly into Black-Hat hacking, but still it's fun to poke around and see what things people are doing in the community.

If you guys have any places you'd recommend I visit, or well-known members in the community, I'd be happy to check it out.

Thanks,
nan0s3c.

Welcome to forums!

Nice to see you here, you have a nice introduction on the other hand. Here you will certainly find a way to give vent to your passions, learn from others and also share your knowledge. First of all, I advise you to read the forum rules so as not to get into unpleasant situations. Take a look at the forum yourself, you will find something that interests you for sure. Any questions feel free to ask!
