it feels like sports betting has ruined the fun of the NBA, atleast when it comes to social media theres no discussion anymore about the game, just who screwed a parlay

I agree, everyone is solely focused on which player hits a certain number of points, rbs, assits, steals, etc rather than simply enjoying the game. Don't get me wrong, I do participate in sports betting here and there, but it simply is for fun and I pick random selections I think will happen.

True. Betting on the under dog can sometimes be a good thing. I been recently picking underdogs testing them out.

I do the same as well. If you want to get a decent payout without putting down too much money on the bet, picking underdogs is the way to go. The odds suck nowadays especially on the favorites, so unless you put down a hefty amount, you won't be making much. What sportsbook do you use? Also, is there a section here specifically for sportsbetting? Sorry I'm still new here and trying to figure out where everything is lol

I don't really keep up with NHL but NFL is my addiction lol especially the anytime TD scorer parlays. That's when I go crazy with the betting. I don't see that you can make parlays on here tho, only ML's.

I only do ML since that is the only option here on HF. I don't mind it though
