Thread: How to save post for future read on hf

Raidit - May 6, 2023, 1:16 pm

Please, anyone knows how I can save an interesting thread that I would like to read later on here

You can send it in one of your PMs or simply search for it to read later, there is a tool in the mail to search through all posts and also to determine and see only those posted after or before a certain time frame. It won't be difficult to find him.

Subscribe to the thread via the gear/cog icon or bookmark via your browser.

Also easy to email your self links too

You have a few options.

- share thread
- bookmark thread
- print thread
- download the actual page as a read later html document

I love how everyone is just replying with the exact same thing to boost their post count / get bytes.

Guys, we don't need 9 different people telling him he can subscribe / bookmark the thread.

Just bookmark it or save the link in a notepad or something
