Thread: Profiles not working?

-PUBG- - May 7, 2023, 9:02 am

Not sure if it's a bug or someone has pointed it out already, any time I try to view a profile its just completely blank and that goes for anyone.

I am using brave which is the same thing, so yes. Was working fine before, but now seems to be messed up.

That is weird I'm not noticing any issue on brave mobile browser. Do you have any user scripts or anything installed?

Nope default as it comes was fine this morning now it's just busted it seems.

I just got the phone I'm on, which worked fine at first but only sites I've used is this one and Google other than that it's default and barely been used.

Zooming makes no difference it seems, and it's the galaxy z flip 4 5g

Works like a charm for me on the Brave browser, both on my PC and phone.

I notice that you are using the forum from mobile, in fact using it completely from the phone is a bit ugly with the graphics and with some details in general. In any case I just tried to look from my phone and I don't notice anything strange looking at someone else's profile but there is always a constant bug of overlapping elements in my personal profile exclusively on it not on other people's (and by the way other from phone I use chrome). Try clearing your browser cache or whatever else you can, it shouldn't take long to settle.

Since you're using Brave (Chromium) and this happened to another user recently; did your default browser switch to something else by any chance?

If so, switch it back to Brave and you should be all set. -PUBG-

I do not seem to experience this issue on PC w/ Brave or on my Phone with Firefox.

Problem randomly seems to have fixed itself, very odd.

Just got back on today and broken yet again, can't click the bar in messages to view individual messages as well, only see the public chat.

It just dawned on me I have adlock on my phone which blocks all ads, but why would it do that to user profile?
