This seems to be an old HTTP botnet, but i can't really recall this one unfortunately.

It seems to be a PHP panel coded in outdated PHP version.

If you are interested in the panel, for learning purposes, then you can take a look at some other open source botnet panels, for example, Lite HTTP or gaudox, pretty sure you should be able to find on github many botnet webpanels with similar features.

Nowadays HTTP panels are made using bootstrap usually.

Here you go:

Code http://anonfile.s.com/jfm8r3qez8/Warbot_rarIts version 1.1.1011. I have no idea if previous versions were released.

Ps: I've had that in my collection for a while. No idea if its malicious or not. Use a VM.

Yeah, my fault. Its both the panel and the builder. The panel (php, js, and html files) are obviously all open source. Not obfuscated or anything. The builder however is compiled. I don't know any specifics other than that. I have a tendency to hoard old files and WarBot was one of many old bots I had stored.

Edit: I've actually set this up before when it was newly released and popular. It was terrible then, so I'm sure its even worse if not completely useless now. Its a basic HTTP bot. The interface looks cool, but was extremely buggy and you sometimes couldn't properly interact with the controls. You'd often get MYSQL errors on the main interface too. Additionally, this copy of WarBot may not have been the one I used. No idea.

Thanks, anyway thats what OP was looking for.

Nah, I just wanted the panel mainly because of the design..
litehttp panels and whatnot are useless for me..

Im more interested in the midi windows and javascript inside :p

Thank you. It def is malicious (panel isnt unless backdoored after release).. but the panel is exactly what i needed. Minus the backdoored builder, and whatnot.

if anyone actually downloads this.... I recommend you NOT use the builder.. find the original source, its out there somewhere, i just lost my usb lol...

Mainly only thing 'warbot' is good for is the panel anyways, as it was terribly coded using resource files n shit..... lol
