Thread: Motusora's Discord imposter \(discord id: 649001350037766154\)

Motusora - May 14, 2023, 3:25 pm

i was confused when Stunner , sent me a contract out of nowhere for a thread design so i sent him a convo asking if maybe we could talked about the thread before accepting it .

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

i was shocked when he told me that he already talked to me in discord, but i have no idea so i asked for a screenshot as a proof .

he gave me this

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

also based on the screenshot Stunner provided , it says that the fake motusora was a discord member since 2019

but im a discord member since 2017 so i asked for the discord id of the impersonator then Stunner sent me this but my real discord id is this i think discord allows users to use any usernames when you boost your account , i really have no idea but at least they can't copy the user id .

scammer discord id: 649001350037766154 everyone , please be careful who you're dealing with .

always confirm on site and do not send money if the contract wasn't accepted first.

its so confusing same # on discord and name Lucky enough LTC was deposited from bank so when i sent it got hit by 7 day hold so I've emailed Blockchain to see if they can cancel it. Be Cautious always check user ID as name and # can be deceiving

You can use invisible names on discord so the scammer likely used the same name and tag with a hidden character.

Anyone using discord for deals should refer to the sticky.

I take blame for this like OP said should of kept on site i feel so let down.

Motusora - May 14, 2023, 7:41 pm for some reason he added me in discord so i blocked him immediately .

do not make deals offsite, always contact first so we could make a contract.

the audacity of this guy . he tried to extort me lol

Seems very similar to the YouTube scammers, you might find this video interesting.

this kid needs a rain check. Imagine scamming for $50 such a low amount now he's trying to extort you ?

This is never stressed enough. Always confirm off-site deals on HF with the seller before pushing any payment button. Even if his mother is dying and he needs you to pay fast before he goes to the hospital, always confirm on-site. People will scam anything, even if it's $10.

It's probably the same guy that did it to me. He is notorious for trying to blackmail sellers to stop scamming in their name. Have fun with his ass, he's a nobody.

his discord id is 649001350037766154

if you try to search it in forums , he actually impersonated a lot of people and he's been doing this for years already .

Impersonator threads are not allowed.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6163792>

Members should always verify on-site they are speaking to the correct person.

Or better yet, just deal on site.
