

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Are dating app bots/automated swiping actually making money daily?

Bladerunner - May 17, 2023, 9:43 am

I see multiple people selling automated bumble/[BRAND NAME REMOVED] bots to have many live accounts running with autoswiping with snap name in bio and they all claim theirs is "the only working private method" and claiming you can make 1-2k a day with them

Anyone currently doing onlyfans with such bots/automation and actually making good income? im looking to invest and got the $1,500 one and was complete shit so looking for alternatives

Meow - May 17, 2023, 11:38 am

Dating apps, especially [BRAND NAME REMOVED], is constantly changing their app and improving their security because they're aware of what's going on. I'm saying that because if a method works today, it could stop working next week, once [BRAND NAME REMOVED] releases a new update.

You can definitely make a good income as dating apps are a high quality traffic source, however you need capital to invest, that's why most people don't go with it - invest in quality proxies, anti-detect web browser profiles, SMS verifications, etc.

Instead of buying a private method (ebook), see if anyone is offering a service where they'll setup the profiles, manage everything, etc.

Doubt you'll find anyone reliable as the obvious question comes to mind - why would they offer that as a service when they can use it and scale their traffic and overall make more money themselves?

Bladerunner - May 17, 2023, 12:48 pm

(May 17, 2023 11:38 AM)Meow Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dating apps, especially [BRAND NAME REMOVED], is constantly changing their app and improving their security because they're aware of what's going on. I'm saying that because if a method works today, it could stop working next week, once [BRAND NAME REMOVED] releases a new update.

You can definitely make a good income as dating apps are a high quality traffic source, however you need capital to invest, that's why most people don't go with it - invest in quality proxies, anti-detect web browser profiles, SMS verifications, etc.

Instead of buying a private method (ebook), see if anyone is offering a service where they'll setup the profiles, manage everything, etc.

Doubt you'll find anyone reliable as the obvious question comes to mind - why would they offer that as a service when they can use it and scale their traffic and overall make more money themselves? Thats the thing, all these guys say "I have 10-20 profiles running a day and make 1-2k daily"... why not run 50-100 accounts and mass scale instead of selling your method for a few hundred?

TridentX - May 17, 2023, 4:39 pm

(May 17, 2023 12:48 PM)Bladerunner Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thats the thing, all these guys say "I have 10-20 profiles running a day and make 1-2k daily"... why not run 50-100 accounts and mass scale instead of selling your method for a few hundred?

Because you can actually scale a method too much. I know of a group that basically ruined their method because they over scaled it.

They were using multiple Instagram profiles to drive traffic to a set of Onlyfans profiles. It worked when there were just 4 or 5 Instagrams and 4 or 5 Onlyfans. But when they scaled it to 50 Instagram profiles driving traffic to 10 Onlyfans, they killed their method because eventually some subs recognized the same Onlyfans links tied to different Instagram profiles.

1 to 2k a day is great for this type of work. You can be too greedy.