Thread: [\[\$50\] Payment Processor / E-Commerce Platform Help \(NO SET-UP!\)](#)

Lyrica - June 11, 2023, 2:59 pm

I need help from someone with good knowledge of payment processors and/or e-commerce platforms.

Let me start out by clarifying that I might be thinking about this the wrong way, so any and all ideas are greatly welcome.

I sell serial keys (legal ones). Right now, my e-commerce platform is Sellix, because it can automatically send out serial keys upon purchase.
Sellix works for now, but I'd like a better solution.

Here's what I can do with Sellix (and I also would with another solution as well):

- Auto-dispatch serial keys to e-mail/display on screen upon purchase. That's a requirement because I don't have the time to manually send out keys when this is just a side business for me.
- Subscription-based. My software keys renew once a month, so customers are charged monthly.
- I'd love to have all my payouts in crypto.

But here's where I run into a problem: If I only do crypto payments, I'll lose 90% of my customers because of the hassle of buying crypto, and then sending it. Ideally, the customer would pay using FIAT ("real-life" currencies), using PayPal, credit cards, or whatever, and I'd receive crypto. This has proven a bit hard for me to find. So far, I've only looked at platforms allowing this, and I haven't been able to find one - that's why I'm thinking multiple services could be used.

As mentioned, maybe I'm looking at it the wrong way, and there's an obvious answer - I just haven't been able to get my head around it.

I've decided to offer $50 for help with this. I wouldn't need help with set-up, just a name of a service (or perhaps a little set-up help if it's a hard-to-implement solution, which you'll be compensated for as well).

I don't need the $50, check out the below both are really good.

<https://sellpass.io/>

<https://sellup.io/>

Do these support FIAT to crypto transactions?

EDIT: Just saw Sellpass might do, I'll have to look into it. Thanks!
