Thread: I am looking for a skilled web designer markzuckerberg - June 12, 2023, 6:58 am

I am looking for a skilled web designer who has experience working with PHP websites. The main task is to enhance the visual appeal of an existing SMM panel website and make it more attractive to visitors. If you have a keen eye for design and proficiency in PHP, please reach out to discuss further details and project requirements. It is important to note that before any actual work begins, I would like to have a visual representation or mockup to serve as an example, with a specific focus on improving the mobile section of the website for a seamless user experience. If you are interested, please contact me on Telegram (TG). I am open to discussing a milestone-based payment arrangement and would prefer a cost-effective design solution. Let's connect on TG to discuss the project further and negotiate the terms.

Question. I have great experience in Web Development, that also includes PHP. PHP is backend driven, but it sounds like you want frontend done or?
