You could give TryHackMe a go, they have excellent labs and walkthroughs explaining tools, techniques, and exploits that you can practice in a legal environment to hone your skillset.

It really depends on the type of hacking that you're into, HackTheBox also has a ton of great guides and walkthroughs which I'd recommend once you have some more skills since all of their live boxes have the added benefit of having no active walkthroughs and multiple ways to obtain an initial foothold, and usually multiple ways to privesc to root.
