user_1928375 - June 18, 2023, 11:11 am

I am new to the hacking world

I found myself very interested in this. Currently I learned WiFi hacking and some basic python programming

I want my next step to be botnet hacking and website hacking and I cant find anything useful in like google or YouTube so I am looking forward to meet veteran people in the subject

also feel free to give me beginners hacking advice

! Don't make deals without contracts

! Don't make deals with users that don't have reputation, they don't have nothing to lose (on an account ban) so they will most probably scam you

! Don't look for the 'master hacker', if someone teaches you they need to gain something (views, reputation, money, etc.), learn by yourself, put effort into it and that's it

Plenty of training available available on both if you know the right keywords. And website hacking is right here: <https://hackforums.net/forumdisplay.php?fid=43>.
