Not sure what the right section for this thread is, so mods feel free to move it to the appropriate section

It's been well over 2 weeks and i can't find the solution to this problem, trying to test days and nights

Every time i live stream on tiktok i get little to no people joining (usually 0). Before i had 1k-2k people on live stream and everything was working fine. But 2 weeks ago there were several tiktok updates and all of a sudden no one joins my live anymore although i live stream the exact same content at the exact same time, consistently

I tried creating new accounts, didnt work. Tried farming new accounts by following others to get 1k followers organically, same problem. Tried buying bottled + aged accounts, same problem

Tried using VPN, no change. Tried physically relocating and connecting to wifi of gas pumps to live stream in the coffee shops and restaurants, same problem. Tried using other devices (android / ios) and phones, same problem. Tried contacting tiktok support, no response. Tried using 4G on mobile, same problem. Tried connecting to hotspot of another phone, same problem. I tried live streaming in the morning, broad daylight, at night and even in the middle of the night at 2-3 AM, same problem. I tried prolonging the live stream to 4h (it usually lasts for 1 up to 1.5h), same problem

I have 0 bans warnings or restrictions. I can upload tiktoks normally and i get 150-900 views per tiktok. I can like comment follow normally. All of this should indicate that im not shadow banned right?

So what even is the problem here? I think im not getting shown on tiktoks FYP, as if im hidden (shadowbanned but only for live streaming)? All i want to do is live stream, nothing else. At this point i think i tried testing every single possible scenario i could think of.

Now i decided to create a bounty hunt and pay anyone who can solve this in any way possible

That is my opinion as well. Just like Google blocks webscrapers for too many requests. Same like Steam exploits worked, but not anymore after an update.
