How to ask the owner to cancel the No trespass notice?

How long should people wait to ask this question?

Who can help people to resolve this issue besides attorneys?

What kind of people will be issued a no-trespass notice?

Should you comply with all the requests from the owner if you want the no-trespass notice canceled?

Any other advice?

Thank you

Sounds like you should stop stalking whoever this is and respect their privacy.

Nicely, by letter, with an apology or explanation to the event that led to your NTN, asking forgiveness. State also the reason why you want to be a returning visitor and how your behavior may be different.

I'd say 1 year as a baseline.

I don't believe you need a lawyer unless you're going to pursue a legal recourse to regain visiting privileges.

Drunk, thieves, belligerent people, rude people, and generally troublemakers.

The NTN is the request, that you don't visit again, under penalty of law.

This is a weird post btw. Almost bot-like or AI.

Thank you all for the reply.

I was wrongfully accused and did not do what the NTN issuer claimed on the notice. Because of this NTN, I am under a lot of stress and my life, my personal relationship, and my professional relationship have been affected. What should I do? I spoke a different language than the owner of the property. I tried to tell them to take a look at their own security camera, etc. no one get back to me. I tried to get people to speak on my behalf, but has not found anyone yet. Any advice would be greatly appreciated.

Is this a place you're required to visit? What does it matter that some business has a NTN on you? Other than how you personally feel maybe some embarrassment or shame, who cares?

If it was me, I'd be angry at the establishment for being pricks. I wouldn't be crawling back asking forgiveness. They don't want me there, fine, go somewhere else.

Thank you. People who have authority and reputation are willing to help me to ask the owner to see if the notice can be canceled. I tried on the phone to tell people my side of the story, but because I am not a native language speaker and not able to tell the story in the best way.

I need a plan to make the cancellation happen and am not smart enough to do that. Any help would be greatly appreciated it.

What is the best time to ask the owner? Is Thanksgiving holiday a good time? When it is the Thanksgiving holiday, it is close to a half year. most importantly, I did not do the thing that the notice has said!!!

How to write or put together a good way to tell the people that are willing to help me to ask the owner?

Any other thing I need to be aware of?

Thank you very much
