

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Soccer Coach Arrested After videos of him raping unconscious boys found on his phone

The Pact - July 12, 2023, 12:24 am

Police in Franklin, Tennessee said it all started when staff at a local restaurant found a cell phone left behind at one of the tables. When they went through the phone to find a lead on who it belonged to, they instead shockingly found dozens of disturbing photos and videos of underage children.

Staffers called in the phone to police who launched an investigation after examining the media on the phone, which included videos of Campos recording himself "raping unconscious boys between approximately 9 and 17 years old."

<https://people.com/tenn-soccer-coach-arrested-after-videos-discovered-of-underage-boys-7558980>

uhtred - July 12, 2023, 2:38 am

Pure disgust, I hope he gets same treatment as what he did to those boys in prison.

The Pact - July 13, 2023, 4:20 pm

(Jul 12, 2023 02:38 AM)uhtred Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Pure disgust, I hope he gets same treatment as what he did to those boys in prison.

The funny bit is that this all happened because he left his phone at a restaurant, the phone had no password or security on it and the poor staff were just trying to go through it to find his phone number to ring him and let him know he'd lost his phone when they had to see child porn he'd made from drugging and raping boys aged 9 to 17 that was on his phone.[And those were kids whose parents had trusted him to coach soccer for their kids. ? So then the restaurant staff rang police instead.

I mean it's only funny that he was so stupid as to make child porn with himself the rapist and not put any security on his phone and then leave it at a restaurant. SO he was caught completely by accident. Drugged boys must have been so confused and unsure what happened and probably embarrassed to talk to anyone about where the physical pain was and not even sure why they had it. ? ?

Secrets - July 13, 2023, 5:12 pm

Ain't. No. Mothafucking. Way.

That's Karma. He's scheme is finally up. Enjoy prison.

Aeowulf - July 13, 2023, 5:14 pm

Glad the sick FK was also an idiot and didn't secure his phone. He deserves so much worse than prison.

Truth - July 14, 2023, 1:59 am

I mean his phone with his video sounds like undeniable evidence. Its time to take this hellish monster out the f*cking gene pool wtf imagine being the one to find the video, he'd wish I didn't is all I'd say.

such a sad tragedy for the kids, makes sense why some mothers are overly protective, they must sense the demons like this in the world

shyglitzy - July 16, 2023, 6:34 am

That's one sick dude I tell you.

The Pact - September 20, 2024, 7:25 am

(Jul 14, 2023 01:59 AM)Truth Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I mean his phone with his video sounds like undeniable evidence. Its time to take this hellish monster out the f*cking gene pool wtf imagine being the one to find the video, he'd wish I didn't is all I'd say.

such a sad tragedy for the kids, makes sense why some mothers are overly protective, they must sense the demons like this in the world

Yeah I remember this guy at my parents work Christmas party that kids were allowed to come to and there was this guy there that kept flattering me and I was six, but even though it was a more innocent era my mother was onto that guy.

bevc - September 21, 2024, 2:20 am

(Sep 20, 2024 07:25 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah I remember this guy at my parents work Christmas party that kids were allowed to come to and there was this guy there that kept flattering me and I was six, but even though it was a more innocent era my mother was onto that guy.

When I was about 5 we had this weird neighbour guy who used to try and invite me to go for walks with him in the woods (always me, never my sisters), and I remember my dad saying to me "You can talk to him, but don't sit on his knee".

So I just sucked him off instead.

(Sorry, SORRY, joking, I know kiddie fiddling isn't funny - and it is true about the weird neighbour who used to pay me far too much attention, I can still remember what he looked like, he seemed harmless enough to my innocent eyes at the time).

The Pact - September 23, 2024, 2:47 am

(Sep 21, 2024 02:20 AM)bevc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When I was about 5 we had this weird neighbour guy who used to try and invite me to go for walks with him in the woods (always me, never my sisters), and I remember my dad saying to me "You can talk to him, but don't sit on his knee".

So I just sucked him off instead.

(Sorry, SORRY, joking, I know kiddie fiddling isn't funny - and it is true about the weird neighbour who used to pay me far too much attention, I can still remember what he looked like, he seemed harmless enough to my innocent eyes at the time).

With the guy at the Christmas party when I was six I said, "How are you." And he said, "My life is so much better now I met you." And I had a weird feeling of cognitive dissonance because his words were a big compliment, but something felt wrong. Not scary to me but wrong.

My mother kept saying as we went home there's something wrong with a man that loves children that much. And I didn't understand that but then I told her he spoke to me like an adult man would speak to a woman he loved in a movie and my mother shouted, "Exactly!" Of course I was still confused.

bevc - September 23, 2024, 4:06 am

(Sep 23, 2024 02:47 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) With the guy at the Christmas party when I was six I said, "How are you." And he said, "My life is so much better now I met you." And I had a weird feeling of cognitive dissonance because his words were a big compliment, but something felt wrong. Not scary to me but wrong.

My mother kept saying as we went home there's something wrong with a man that loves children that much. And I didn't understand that but then I told her he spoke to me like an adult man would speak to a woman he loved in a movie and my mother shouted, "Exactly!" Of course I was still confused.

It's quite sad, as a man these days you can't be too friendly with kids you're not related to. My dad volunteers at a school, and if a kid falls over and hurts themselves, he doesn't dare hug them even if they're really upset, coz you'll get sued or lynched by internet vigilantes or something.

I'm not saying we should get nostalgic for the pedo-paradise of the 70s and 80s, I'm just saying that as a man it's a bit sad that you have to always maintain your 'nonce-sense'.

The Pact - September 26, 2024, 3:10 am

(Sep 23, 2024 04:06 AM)bevc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's quite sad, as a man these days you can't be too friendly with kids you're not related to. My dad volunteers at a school, and if a kid falls over and hurts themselves, he doesn't dare hug them even if they're really upset, coz you'll get sued or lynched by internet vigilantes or something.

I'm not saying we should get nostalgic for the pedo-paradise of the 70s and 80s, I'm just saying that as a man it's a bit sad that you have to always maintain your 'nonce-sense'.

"Nonce-sense" lol Yeah this guy I have been involved with was telling me he was the last guy that stayed in his Early Childhood Education diploma when all the other men were drummed out of it because of a story in the news that was kind of a satanic panic at a preschool started by a schizophrenic mother. In the end not a single preschool would let him do his practical section so he had to give up on his diploma. Terrible. Of course there are lots of real cases, but the particular case in the news at that time was found to not be real and was the result of that bad investigating practices where police put ideas in kids heads and those practices are banned now.

bevc - September 26, 2024, 4:10 am

(Sep 26, 2024 03:10 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) "Nonce-sense" lol Yeah this guy I have been involved with was telling me he was the last guy that stayed in his Early Childhood Education when all the other men were drummed out of it because of a story in the news that was kind of a satanic panic at a preschool started by a schizophrenic mother. In the end not a single preschool would let him do his practical section so he had to give up on his diploma. Terrible. Of course there are lots of real cases, but the particular case in the news at that time was found to not be real and was the result of that bad investigating practices where police put ideas in kids heads and those practices are banned now.

My wife's a teacher, a few years ago I helped one of her students with a big suitcase she was struggling to carry. My wife was teasing me that this girl had a crush on me, and I got super paranoid about it and wouldn't go near the school. It might be funny to my missus, but if that gets misconstrued by someone then I'll end up getting my giggle-berries hacked off with a machete by some irate pitchfork wielding local facebook loonies. She wouldn't be laughing then (actually she might, if they did it with comedic panache).

And my dad, he was telling me they had a kid who tripped walking home from school, and his mum blamed the school, and was suing them - like, it wasn't even AT the school, it was outside the school. He just tripped. And the really crazy thing was, that the school's legal advisor told them to pay her! Because it was easier than fighting it (they didn't, and I think she eventually got bored).

The Pact - September 26, 2024, 4:16 am

(Sep 26, 2024 04:10 AM)bevc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My wife's a teacher, a few years ago I helped one of her students with a big suitcase she was struggling to carry. My wife was teasing me that this girl had a crush on me, and I got super paranoid about it and wouldn't go near the school. It might be funny to my missus, but if that gets misconstrued by someone then I'll end up getting my giggle-berries hacked off with a machete by some irate pitchfork wielding local facebook loonies. She wouldn't be laughing then (actually she might, if they did it with comedic panache).

And my dad, he was telling me they had a kid who tripped walking home from school, and his mum blamed the school, and was suing them - like, it wasn't even AT the school, it was outside the school. He just tripped. And the really crazy thing was, that the school's legal advisor told them to pay her! Because it was easier than fighting it (they didn't, and I think she eventually got bored).

That legal advisor seems like a bad one. How are you going to win a case at the school when it wasn't at the school?

bevc - September 26, 2024, 4:38 am

(Sep 26, 2024 04:16 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That legal advisor seems like a bad one. How are you going to win a case at the school when it wasn't at the school?

The logic was (and please bear in mind I'm getting this third hand), that it would be cheaper to pay this mother off then it would be to start fighting a legal action, and with a lot of government-y type organisations, the negative publicity alone often makes it easier just to pay it off - so you get a lot of frivolous litigation, because some unscrupulous people know this.

My dad was present for the conversation, he said it was unbelievable, he thought at first that the legal advisor had misunderstood the situation. Like, kids sometimes fall down. It happens. It will continue to happen. I think the mum's argument was that the school was 'in loco parentis' at the time.

The Pact - September 26, 2024, 4:44 am

(Sep 26, 2024 04:38 AM)bevc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The logic was (and please bear in mind I'm getting this third hand), that it would be cheaper to pay this mother off then it would be to start fighting a legal action, and with a lot of government-y type organisations, the negative publicity alone often makes it easier just to pay it off - so you get a lot of frivolous litigation, because some unscrupulous people know this.

My dad was present for the conversation, he said it was unbelievable, he thought at first that the legal advisor had misunderstood the situation. Like, kids sometimes fall down. It happens. It will continue to happen. I think the mum's argument was that the school was 'in loco parentis' at the time.

But they were not in loco parentis because he was out the gate. lol I get what you are saying. But this is weird to me since Eminem's mom tried to sue his school when Eminem ended up in hospital and nearly died from a beating, and she was told you cannot sue a public school? But that would have been in the 70s.

bevc - September 26, 2024, 4:50 am

(Sep 26, 2024 04:44 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) But they were not in loco parentis because he was out the gate. lol I get what you are saying. But this is weird to me since Eminem's mom tried to sue his school when Eminem ended up in hospital and nearly died from a beating, and she was told you cannot sue a public school? But that would have been in the 70s.

That's America (I guess? Eminem's American? And 80s surely? Eminem ain't that old!). Again, I'm getting this from my pops, but the argument was that it was during school time, the kid's parents weren't there (kid would be age between 6-10), so he was the school's responsibility. I don't think the kid was even that hurt, skinned knee or such.

The Pact - September 26, 2024, 4:54 am

(Sep 26, 2024 04:50 AM)bevc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's America (I guess? Eminem's American? And 80s surely? Eminem ain't that old!). Again, I'm getting this from my pops, but the argument was that it was during school time, the kid's parents weren't there (kid would be age between 6-10), so he was the school's responsibility. I don't think the kid was even that hurt, skinned knee or such.

Eminem is that "old". He's 51 born October 17, 1972, St. Joseph, Missouri. Yeah he actually wasn't born in Detroit.

bevc - September 26, 2024, 5:09 am

(Sep 26, 2024 04:54 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Eminem is that "old". He's 51 born October 17, 1972, St. Joseph, Missouri. Yeah he actually wasn't born in Detroit.

All I know about Eminem is that Kim Basinger played his alcoholic mother, and I don't know what they put in the booze in Detroit, but my mother was an alcoholic, and she didn't have no cheekbones and tousled hair like Kim Basinger.

The Pact - September 26, 2024, 5:56 am

(Sep 26, 2024 05:09 AM)bevc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) All I know about Eminem is that Kim Basinger played his alcoholic mother, and I don't know what they put in the booze in Detroit, but my mother was an alcoholic, and she didn't have no cheekbones and tousled hair like Kim Basinger.

His ex wife Kim was really mad that Kim Basinger played his mother, and Brittany Murphy played his girlfriend because too be honest Kim Scott is prettier or was prettier than Brittany Murphy, and she knew it! And complained about it on the radio.

The Pact - December 29, 2024, 2:12 am

(Sep 26, 2024 04:50 AM)bevc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's America (I guess? Eminem's American? And 80s surely? Eminem ain't that old!). Again, I'm getting this from my pops, but the argument was that it was during school time, the kid's parents weren't there (kid would be age between 6-10), so he was the school's responsibility. I don't think the kid was even that hurt, skinned knee or such.

Well Eminem was 7 in 1979 but I guess you are right because he was older when he was beat-up.