As per court filings this BTC batch will be sold, assuming it is, there is still a plentiful 31.6K $BTC to be liquidated.

Since the district courts are independent of the executive and legislative branches of government What's their end goal here then ?

Why sell on Batches and not liquidate the whole sum once ?

Since 2014 they have been burning money, and missing on more than 5 billions in gains .

It's the BTC they stole from Jimmy Zhong

Technically he was paid legit from silk road just for telling how the race condition bug worked there is a theory suggesting some relationship between significant TETHER mints and seized BTC movement correlatation doesn't imply causation of course, but it's an interesting remark non the less

No way, I didn't know Jimmy Zhong had that big of an impact.
