Hello fellow members,

I'd like to celebrate with you guys that this is my 1300th post and 200th thread on this forum.

During the different stages of life, things come and go but apparently HF stays somewhat persistent around.

Have a good one fellas.

I didn't even know there were people here (except staff) who were registered 14 years ago and are still active.

Congratulations on your persistency, wish you all the best, man.
