Hello, I want to learn Black Hat hacking. Where do I start?

Jump into a dumpster. This isn't a blackhat forum.

Do you really want to be looking over your shoulder for the rest of your life as a black hat hacker? Why not divert your interests and skills by putting them to better use and get a job as a white hat hacker.

There's resources out there, build upon your interests legally by visiting cyberchoices.uk

There are many options available if you're looking to get into the cybersecurity field while also learning skills like pen-testing or try participating in CTF competitions to get real-world experience

Frankly I'd listen to National Crime Agency UK . You'd have more consistent income if you work on your CV as a red teamer or as an in-house company blue team. You're literally paid to hack legally :P Practice labs for Pentest+ and Security+ are about the equivalent of 120USD.

HackTheBox <https://www.hackthebox.com/> gives free training labs, provides a cert, and has job openings too.

Melbourne area alone has 200 posts for the keyword "Cybersecurity"

You think you can you get a housing loan with black hat money? :P

Cheers
