Thread: Are we looking at potential Bitcoin bear market?

Skidsuper - August 18, 2023, 4:19 pm

As the price dips bellow 21 weekly moving average. It looks like we may see a bear run. The candle hasn't closed yet. Let's see.

I believe we've been in a bear market, and will stay in one until Bitcoin starts breaking into the 40k - 50k range. We've been in this ballpark of 24 - 31 since February. I'm not stressing at all.

we have been in a bear market for two years lmao

DashPHP - August 19, 2023, 2:04 am

Not very surprising to me but I guess.

Mewtwo - August 19, 2023, 4:44 am

Not really a bear market, not like it dropped to 15k like the one time it went from 60 to 26k lol

Statistically speaking, September has always been a terrible month for BTC. But let's see whats ahead

When did we leave the last one?

LEGENDAVIE - August 20, 2023, 6:02 am

It's all speculation, some people been saying it was going to hit 100k by now, other saying it's bear market for years, in the end only half of them are right, which is by pure chance, both could be right, unless you a whale bitcoin is not going to make you real money anymore, those days are long gone.

hmm impossible to know what there is behind

if sec is positive about blackrock etf maybe we will see btc rais again

But if this don't happen bitcoin won't grow up again with this inflation all over the world

Even elon musk i read that he sold his btc detained on space x and that's not good
